RISING TO THE TOP

There were many ups and downs in all areas of school activities. Academics, athletics, and other activities rose and fell, but by the never-ending determination of the student body, we succeeded in having a triumphant year.

Although student grades were only average, we still succeeded in having a first place and a second place in the Lurleen B. Wallace Language Arts Tournament. Also two of our students won a first prize and a second prize in the county writing contest, and several seniors received scholarships to different colleges.

Athletics, just as academics, were only average. After last year's play-offs, the football season was less than spectacular, but we still managed to come up on top with a winning season, and six players were chosen to be on the all-conference team.

Basketball was similar to football in that we did make the play-offs but had a 10-10 season.

Activities and clubs, as well as academics and athletics, had their elevations and depressions. We had only two issues of the Tiger Rag; the creative writing club barely got off the ground; and 4-H, with its after school meetings, lost many members.

The Panorama finally gets the balloon off the ground as an anxious Mrs. Watson soars skyward.

Although student involvement was not at its peak, we excelled in many areas. The Varsity cheerleaders started by historically winning all-state ranking in both football and basketball. Also we had state winners in SAFE.

Along with the determined student body, part of this success was due to the campus improvements. There were several new additions, such as the new weight room, the band room, and the greenhouse.

Even with our periods of disappointments, we have truly been like a balloon in a gusty wind, . . . rising to the top.

The expressions of Coach Daniel and the sideline brigade show one of the tense moments of the close season.

The smiles of these girls show their enthusiasm for their year as seniors.

When work needs to be done, SOLITUDE is necessary. Sherri Watkins must be alone as she completes a typing assignment.

PLEASURE over a thing well done is long-lasting. Tony Beck seems extremely pleased as he watches the basketball team, obviously doing well.

ANTICIPATION makes the hours drag when awaiting a happy event. Missy Butts looks a bit smug, but her books reveal that she has a while to wait before homecoming festivities begin.

FEELINGS, EMOTIONS, ATTITUDES—

the things that set humans apart from the lower animals and drive us to perform and to interact.

Feelings and emotions were high this year as students and teachers expected great things from themselves and others in sports events, academics, and special activities. Attitudes were admirable as groups, faculty and students worked successfully together on beauty pageant, prom, banquets, magazines sales, year-book, clubs, and the like.

There were a few disagreements and even fights. But these were the exception, not the rule. In general, it was a smooth year, one that found selfishness discarded for the good of the group.

LOVE and ADMIRATION are needed to make life worthwhile. Some of Mr. Bob Sheehan's band students appear to be giving him a good dose of each on an outing to Annie's.

Some days nothing seem to go right. Then DISGUST creeps in. Wanda Bolding looks as if she is experiencing one of those days.

HUMOR and LAUGHTER go hand-in-hand. Ronnie Barbaree and Susan Stephens provide the humor while John Wilkes, Robin Sims, and Gary Garner furnish the laughter.

JUST THE RIGHT YEAR

There were approximately 1180 students in grades kindergarten through 12 with 68 teachers and aides, making the teacher-student ratio easy to deal with. President Reagan's plan to "stay the course" meant most of us did not have an oversupply of money in our pockets, but we had enough. The Red Rock was the only place to hang out, but we still managed to stay out late most weekends. We definitely did not travel in the fast lane, but we thought our lives were just right.

Friday nights were the right time for being with friends. Lisa Harris, Melissa Franklin, and Judy Harrel seem happy about the score at this football game.

Friday nights were also right for being with that special someone. Tybo Sipper looks over the field of Sandra Norris, Tina Jordan, and Debbie McLeod before making his selection.

Playing for Friday afternoon pep rallies seems the right thing for our three major-ettes Nancy Sikes, Tammy Norris, and Vicki Dorman.

Sometimes correcting one's mistakes is the right thing to do. Bubba Destin demonstrates his method of sanding an autographed desk after school.

A still, brisk Saturday afternoon just prior to Christmas is just the right time to launch a hot air balloon.

Student Life

BACK TO SCHOOL

These students get a taste of "senioritis" as they prepare to march into their first pep rally as seniors.

Lisa Sipper seems a bit disgruntled as she awaits the opening of the first-day assembly program.

The first day brought a ganut of emotions. Most of the students were fervently anticipating the beginning of school and all the hustle and bustle that would go with it. The lofty seniors were ecstatic and felt so mature. While the lowly seventh graders were lost and felt so dejected. The majority, however, flashed smiles and laughter as they walked the halls and met old friends. This was only a prelude to the eventful year in store for students caught up in the whirlwind of activities.

Renewing old friendships and forming new ones at recess are part of back-to-school.

Seniors Lamar Hill and Scotty Wallace show a contrast in fashion as they anticipate having their senior portraits taken.

A pensive Carol Stephenson looks forward to receiving her new books.

Lori Richburg smiles for the camera during photo session soon after the opening of school.

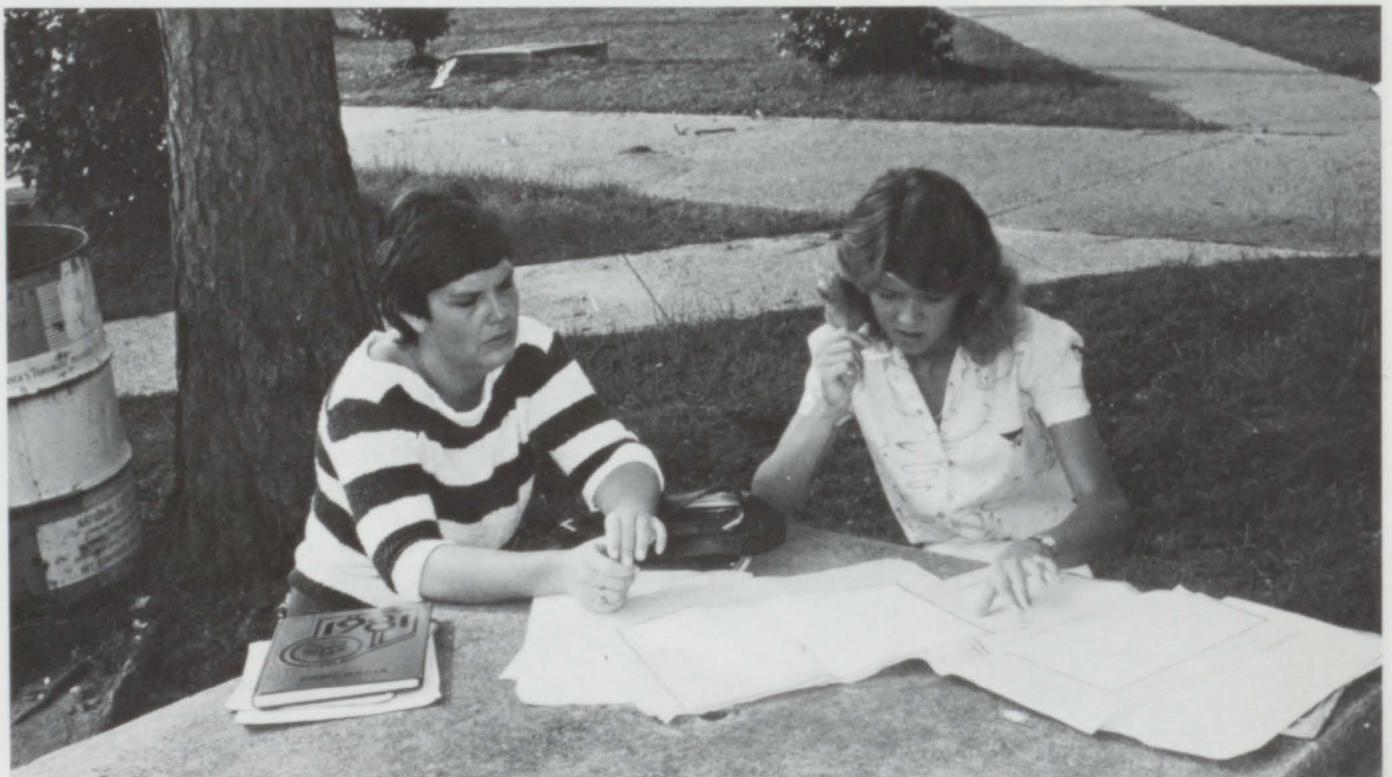

Mrs. Lalar Tomberlin and Coach Glenn Daniel check over all the last-minute details before the first day's activities.

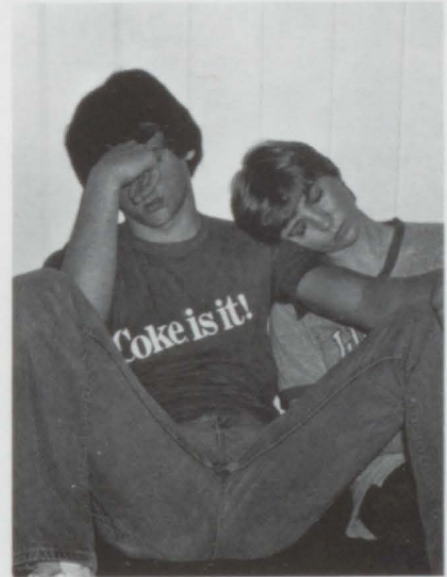

CALL 335-3331

Football, gymnastics, and basketball practice after school, homecoming and prom preparations at night, yearbook sessions until all hours—practically any time day or night someone could be found at school busily working and having fun. So if you get lonely and need some company, FOR A GOOD TIME CALL 335-3331.

These football players started their fun early. They practice their agility drills during a summer session.

Mrs. Watson and Lynn Patterson go over some layouts for the yearbook on a hot June afternoon.

The undergraduate cheerleaders and Mrs. Dickey compose a poem for the senior cheerleaders while Glenda Blackman looks on.

Gary Garner and Dawn King take a siesta break as they wait for their act to perform during beauty pageant night practice.

Working at ball games kept students after school hours on numerous occasions. Kenie Washington and Mike McDougald run the popcorn machine during basketball games.

TIGER SPIRIT

Ball games always generate a lot of spirit, but we got excited about many things. The elementary students exhibited their spirit during their pen pal balloon launch, international school lunch week, and Easter egg hunt.

Those in high school displayed their spirit in sales competitions, and peddling paper bucks for a new band room.

Mrs. Jackson's fifth grade homeroom gets into the spirit of things by dressing the part for our Oriental school lunch.

Debbie Stringer finally gets a chance to flash her senior smile on the first day of school.

The spirit contest poster tells the story of this group of seniors with their variety of eyes.

The PANORAMA staff really got the year-book spirit by having a hot air balloon just to develop their theme. The balloon finally gets up on the third day.

Cheerleaders Lori Richburg, Mona Mullins, and Missy Schofield yell in unison and show off their tiger paws during a close game.

Twins Martel and Marshel Crittenden show their spirit as active members of the Pep Squad.

Band students show their true allegiance during band competition in Opp.

STEP RIGHT UP! FALL FESTIVAL

The P.T.A.'s fall festival brought out the child in everyone as hundreds of people turned out to ride the fire truck, walk for cakes, play Bingo and spend a small fortune, one quarter at a time.

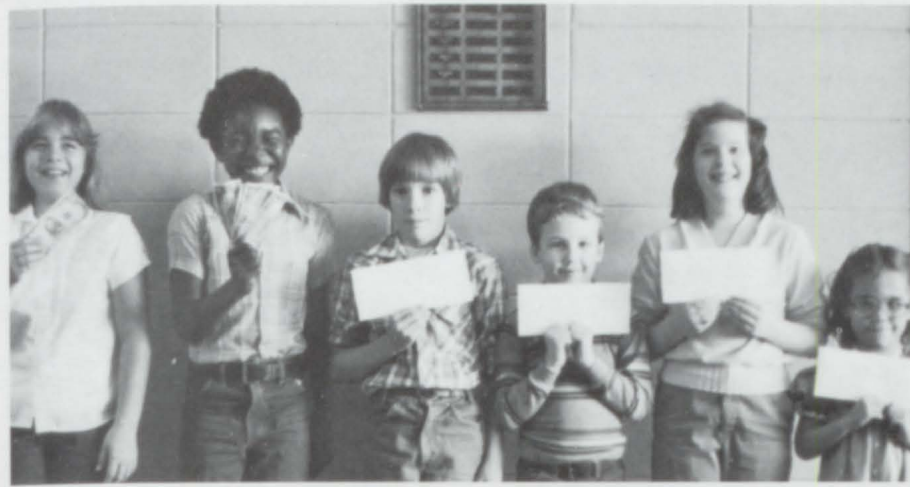

Mrs. Nancy Holladay helps an eager young customer find just the right Smurf balloon.

Jason Senn walks away from the ring toss with a smile that matches that of the clown.

Mrs. Linda Turner shows Russ Tranum the best spot to catch a big one at the fish pond.

Mrs. Jackie Norman paints a big smile on Heather Davis.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BUY?

We've had the educated peanuts, the crispy candy bars, but this year it was the color-coordinated wrapping paper. We started great guns. Coach Sport even dashed to Pensacola to pick up several more cases, but we ended up sending those cases, plus a few more, back. The magazine sales were very successful, however. The junior class sold 852 subscriptions for a total of $10,213.49. Angel Johnson sold $1117.11 for a new school record.

Leading the elementary in Christmas paper sales brings smiles and other rewards to Patrice Pittman, Leslie Jones, Johnny Jones, Daniel Davis, Stacey Senn, and Ashley Walker.

High school winners in paper sales contest Wanda Bolding, Ramona Williams, Lynn Beck, Gina McCall, and Melissa Franklin are all smiles as they prepare to receive their prizes.

Super salesmen Angel Johnson, Joey Johnson, and Lisa Rolling have reason to smile. They sold a total of over $2400 worth of magazine subscriptions.

Junior class members Lisa Rolling and Genevra Foster total the day's receipts on magazine sales.

HOME- COMING

The day was filled with total chaos, with last minute decorating, practicing, and organizing. Amidst this confusion, Mrs. Dickey was racing around trying to get certain necessities while Mrs. Watson also gave assistance by generously giving Miss Football, Marlene Stephens, the use of her bra during the pep rally. With this support, and the enthusiasm of the students and alumni, the afternoon program was anything but a bust!

The larger-than-life heart welcomes the alumni and guests while expressing the true sentiments of the students.

Senior class president Lamar Hill welcomes everyone during the formal afternoon ceremonies.

Mrs. Richburg prepares to register those members of the class of '73 who return for the activities.

Cheerleaders Marlene Stephens, Missy Schofield, Emmie Perkins, and Lynn Patterson give their interpretation of our own faculty.

HOME- COMING BEHIND THE SCENES

Planning for weeks in advance, working until 12:30 A.M. the night before, praying it won't rain and ruin the field, hoping the heart in front of the building won't fall before the guests arrive—all these spelled nightmares and ulcers for Mrs. Dickey and the cheerleaders preparing for homecoming. When Friday arrived and no appalling acts of nature had wiped out all the arrangements, everyone breathed a sign of relief and relaxed to enjoy the festivities.

Cheerleaders Toni Brazell and Angel Johnson put the finishing touches on the bandstand.

A coy Theresa Cauthen learns to hold her queenly scepter as escort Robbie Morrow looks on.

After long hours of preparation, Mrs. Dickey, Mr. Sheehan, and Lori Richburg wearily ready the symbolic football.

Earlier in the morning, Emmie Perkins trims the streamers to just the right length.

Country and western star, Coach Owens, unrolls wire for the streamers.

The bandstand creatively reflects the theme "I Love Tigers."

HOMECOMING AFTER THE SUN GOES DOWN

Defensive end, James Daniels, moves in to stop Flomaton quarterback dead in his tracks.

Coach Glen Daniel gives one of his famous sideline signs while a nervous Coach Brown silently observes.

The cheerleaders wait for the Tigers to burst onto the field.

By homecoming night, the spirit was still high as the mighty Tigers dominated the first half with a 13-0 lead over the Flomaton Hurricanes. This half-time lead set the stage for the Miss Homecoming, Miss Footballs, and their court to enter the field to be recognized. The dominant feature of the night was the 21-0 victory for the Tigers. This victory was celebrated by a dance held in the gym in honor of the alumni.

Homecoming royalty. Front row: Crown Bearer Josh Holliday, Scepter Bearer Haley Beasley, Little Miss Tiger Spirit Andrea Daniels, Little Mr. Football Daryl Stough.

Teresa Cauthen strikes a very formal pose.

"ROCK THIS TOWN"

The beauty pageant was a major endeavor with its massive cast, including the seventeen beauty contestants. Just to organize that many people seemed an impossibility, but Mrs. Penn and Ms. Tomlin not only organized them but also cultivated their talent into one of the best shows ever. The capacity crowd got its money's worth as the cast really did "ROCK THIS TOWN".

This group of sock-hoppers Sherri Watkins, Lisa Rolling, Melanie Langford, Lynn Patterson, Scott Brown, Greg Pittman, Tybo Sipper, Scotty Wallace, and Gary Garner take a break from their hopping to a sixties "Elvis Medly."

The opening number dancers Nanci Betton, Norris Dates, Lynn Patterson, Joey Johnson, Dawn King, and Chris Helms are prepared to "Rock This Town."

Luverne's own Richard Simmons Group, Gary Garner, Jonyalah Andrews, Terri Echols, Willie Pearl Wood, Angie Killough, Margie Reddock, Mary Schofield, Tina Jordan, Dawn King, Debbie Mcleod, and Carol Stephenson, show off their newly formed figures.

This group of jazzers, Lynn Patterson, Pam Bowden, Dale Ballard, Dianne Oliver, Nancy Sikes, and Nanci Betton really like moving to the beat of "Billy Jean".

While singing "Just You and I", Joey Johnson and Sherri Watkins fantasize of their futures.

Norris Dates, Nanci Betton, Dianne Oliver, and Cortney Hamilton certainly put their heart into singing "Baby Come To Me".

AIN'T THEY SWEET?

Emcee Randy Claybrook breaks the suspense by crowning a surprised Angel Johnson Top Beauty.

Beauties in their formal attire.

Our soul dancers Walter Wingard, Alecia McGhee, Daryl Smith, Suzanne Barber, Grant Perdue, Dianne Oliver, Stanley Smith, Emmie Perkins, Darrel Foster, and Jennifer Sullivan are ready to groove to the "Beat Goes On."

Gymnasts Dale Ballard, Lori Richburg, and Pam Bowden show their flexibility while tumbling to "Beat It."

Pam Walton shows off her cute figure which earned her the spot as hostess.

Mice Allen Lucky and Ginny Lee hold captive "Stray Cats," Waller Martin, Tony Johnson, Tybo Sipper, Earnest Green, Erick Brown, Jerry Foster, Tim Brown, Kindra Russell, Tonya Cauthen, Michelle Destin, Jennifer Sullivan, Emmie Perkins, and Kathy Atkinson.

Westerners Wanda Bolding, Chris Helms, Teresa Cauthen, Danny Duncan, Mona Mullins, Jim Free, Vicki Dorman, and Brian Richardson, add the final touch to "Hooked on Country."

Shoppers Lisa Rolling and Valerie May "Shop Around" male models Courtney Hamilton, Bobby Mitchell, Cephus Jones, Chris Helms, Scotty Wallace, Carl Massey, Greg Pheiffer, and Greg Welch but choose janitor Tony Hodge.

LOVELIEST OF THE LOVELIES

The TOP EIGHT SWEETHEARTS are Jackie Barber, Sandra Norris, Marlene Stephens, Rita McLeod, Angel Johnson, DaJuna Harris, Missy Schofield, and Narcissa Reed.

Angel poses with her parents just moments after being crowned.

Top beauty Angel Johnson was selected on the basis of her beauty, charm, personality, poise, and appearance. The sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boots Johnson is a varsity cheerleader, talented seamstress, honor-roll student, and active church member. She seems to be the ideal MISS L.H.S.

The TOP-FIVE SWEETHEARTS are sitting, Angel Johnson, behind, Missy Schofield, Rita McLeod, Marlene Stephens, and Narcissa Reed.

Our efficient adults, Janet Penn, Bob Sheehan, LaJuan Tomlin, and Joan Howard, provide all the instruction, leadership and discipline needed for a successful pageant.

Our students directors, Randy Claybrook, Dawn King, Rita McLeod, Marlene Stephens, and Lynn Patterson give new ideas and youthful insights.

The backstage crew, Tony Salter, Kay Williamson, Kennie Washington, and Jim Tome make everyone look and sound good.

These ushers, Yolanda Parks, Tom Broderway, and Lamar Hill, try to find everyone a seat, but some are turned away.

Spotlighters Phillip Garner and Bill Pippin prepare to put things into the proper light.

AFTER SCHOOL SPECIAL

MINI-MAG

The bell rings at 2:45 and doors bang as students rush into the halls. School is out and it is time to go. Friends meet in the parking lot and decide where to go or what to do. Some leave hurriedly to be at work by three o'clock. The football players mosey on down to the gym for practice while band students rush to the Junior-Food before the start of rehearsal. The cheerleaders practice in the auditorium for hours each day. On Thursday nights before important games, everybody that's an anybody comes to the pep rally on the football field.

The purpose of this section is to show that the student life at LHS doesn't die at the end of school. The "MINI-MAG" is an attempt to highlight current fads, fashions, current events, jobs, pastimes, and things that are popular today.

All of these things contribute to the year that was 1982-83.

One of the familiar sights after Friday night games is a group of cheerleaders and other loyal fans waiting for the players to come out of the dressing room for a big hug.

School is out, and like everyone else, these girls, Pam Hughes and Susan Stephens, are ready to go. After a long day of studies and a couple of tests, anything besides books is well received.

EARNING EXTRA MONEY

MINI-MAG

Daphne Mitchell provides assistance by answering the phone and taking orders at a local tractor company.

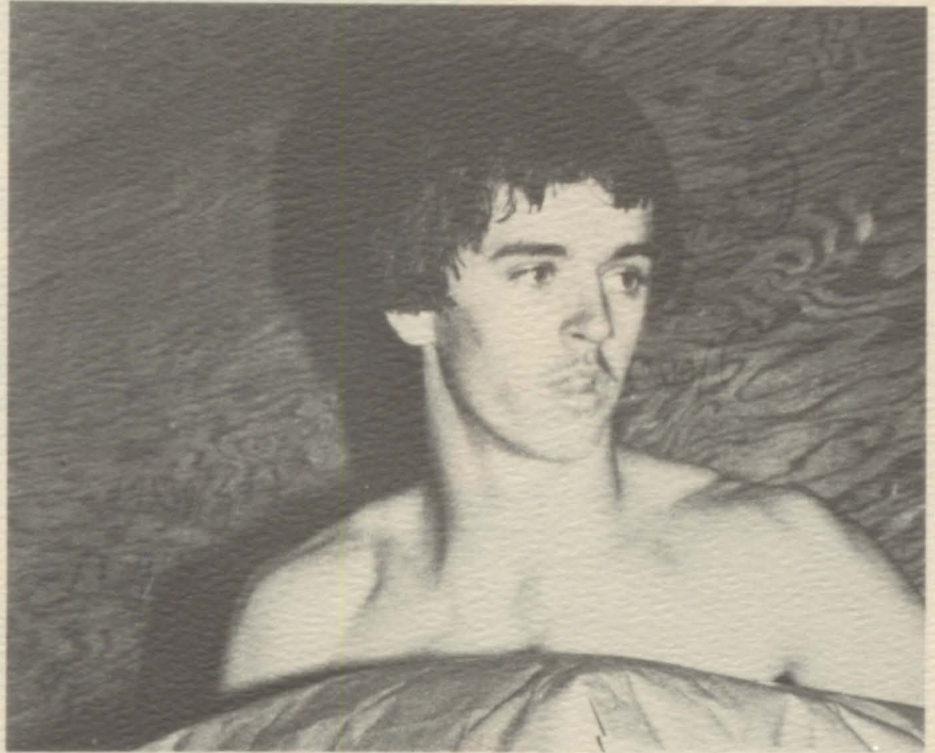

Verna May and Michael Finlayson take care of customers at Annie's drive-through window on a Friday night.

Lisa Sipper keeps things in order while helping Coach Sport and Mrs. Carter in the office after school.

For most students, the end of school is not the end of the day. Many will go to work at local restaurants and stores, while others will go home to do house work or help with chores on the farm. It is not easy to find good-paying jobs and keep them while maintaining grades, but many students do. Reasons given are varied, but the main motivation is the extra spending money.

Bobby Mitchell stocks shelves bags groceries and unloads trucks at one of the grocery stores on weekends.

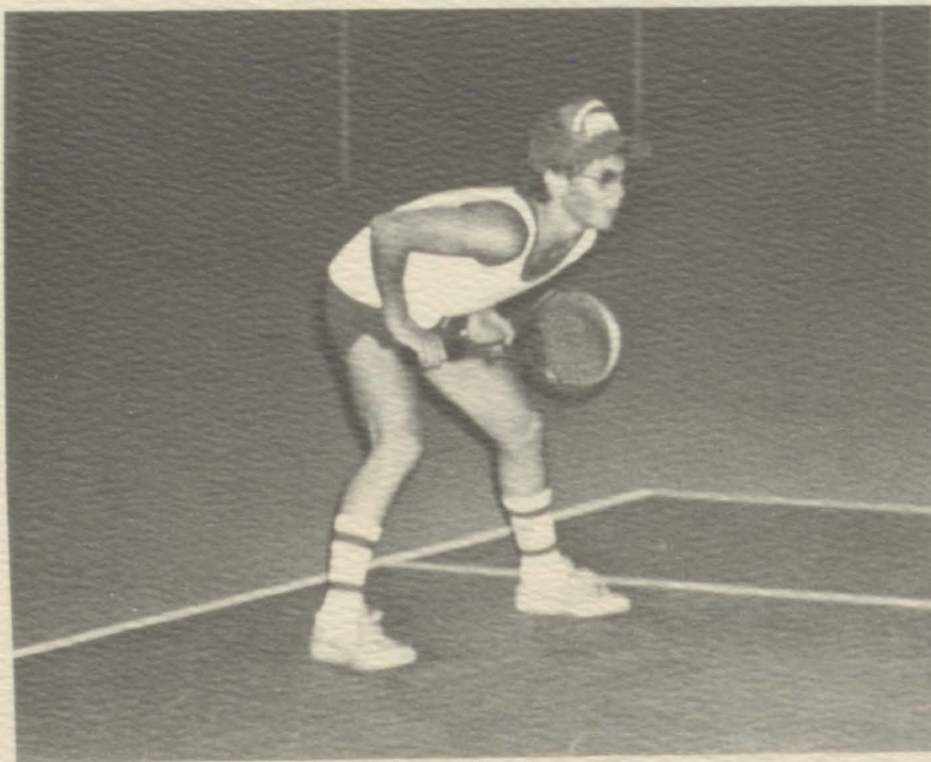

Judy Mitchell waits on Wanda Bolding at Jack's's.

NIGHT LIFE

MINI-MAG

Mark Cooper waves bye before his usual Friday night cruise.

Scott Tomlin waits anxiously for his opponent's serve.

Danny Duncan fills up before another Saturday night on the town of cruising the strip from Jack's to the car wash.

Jeff Harris checks out Wanda Bolding's new car, which will be very useful for her week-end riding around.

Dawn King and Gary Garner stage the best part of a date during recess.

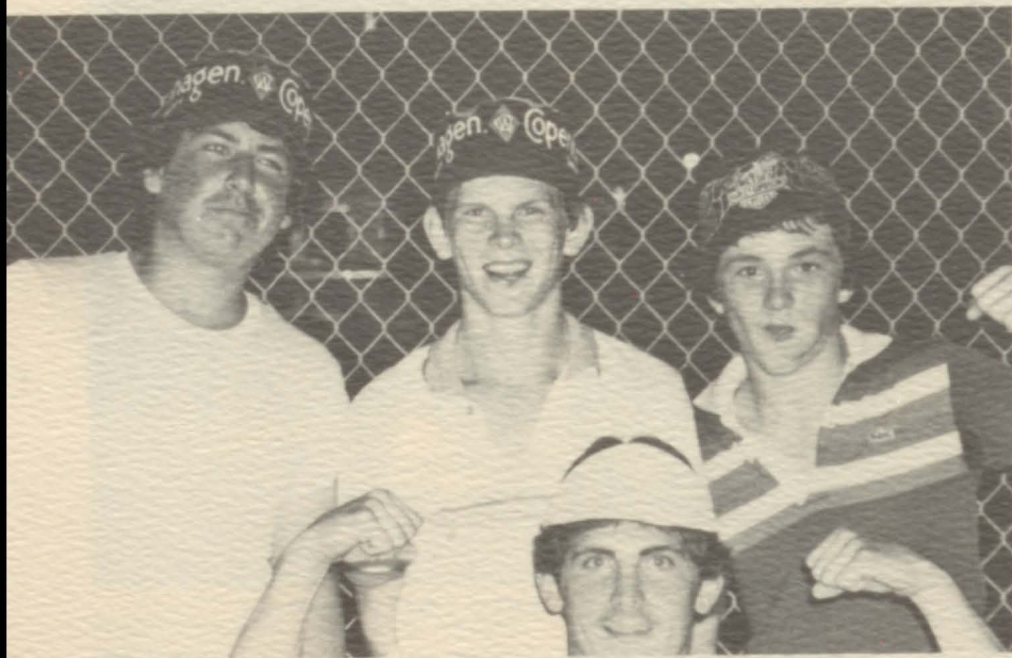

An evening at the park is enjoyable for all, especially young teenagers, such as Amy Lynn, Sonya Riley, Stephanie Hodge. The park offers an opportunity for socializing and finding rides by younger students without a license.

FASHIONS

MINI MAG

Shoes were usually casual, and seldom anything but tennis shoes. This pile of shoes shed during beauty pageant practice indicates that most students wear Nike.

Leslie Sipper, Lainie Taylor, Amy Sanders, and Stephanie Hodge are dressed in their most comfortable clothing, blue-jeans and Nikes.

On the top of every boys' fashion list is a hat. Here Tybo Sipper, Teddy Barbaree, Kurt Byrd and Larry Barbaree show the type of hat they prefer, from the stylish Copenhagen hat to the ever popular sun visor.

The newest and most noticeable fashion fad is the arrival of the punk look. Lainie Taylor and Julia Wyrosdick strike a punky pose to show off their newest punk suits.

At Luverne High, there are as many different styles of dress as there are people, and the major reason for choosing one style or another seems to be personal comfort. Strolling through the hall on any given day you can find students dressed in everything from coat and tie or designer dresses to raggedy bluejeans and cowboy boots or T-shirts, and sneakers.

As always, styles come and go with cost, practicality and the seasons, but one item of clothing that remains a favorite among students is bluejeans whether they are made by Gloria Vanderbilt or good ol' Levi Strauss. Other favorites include whatever's easy to take care of (that means no ironing), clothes that hold up under hard wear and repeated washings, and whatever's clean. The only rule you need to know about how to dress at LHS is this: wear whatever suits your personal taste, and your mood.

The "in thing" this year was Levis and penny loafers worn without socks, as shown by Chris Helms.

With the arrival of spring, Ocean Pacific shirts began popping up everywhere. It seems that everyone owns an "OP" or a Panama Jack shirt, if not both.

Izod has been around for quite some time. Stevie Taylor and Joey Carpenter show the latest, which is the striped alligator.

FADS

MINI-MAG

Chris Helms demonstrates the proper way to place a dip for maximum enjoyment.

The teen years are expensive ones. The cost of braces is about $15,000 and eighteen months of wearing them. Nancy Sikes (above) and Jennifer Worthington, Gloria Lester, Cindi Lee, (at right) put up with such phrases as "metal mouth, tin grin," and "train tracks". Somehow they bear the agony and cute remarks, but when the braces are off they really have a dynamite, million dollar smile.

Dippin' and chewin' is a big thing for the guys. They are seen at ball-games, recess, and even in class with a bulging face of tobacco. Jim Free, Scott Brown, Bobby Tomberlin and Greg Welch use Copenhagen and Red Man to prove their manhood.

Darrel Foster (top) along with Audrey and Suzanne Barber (left) show off the latest thing for the music on the go. The "jam box" takes the latest hits and boogie music to where the action is.

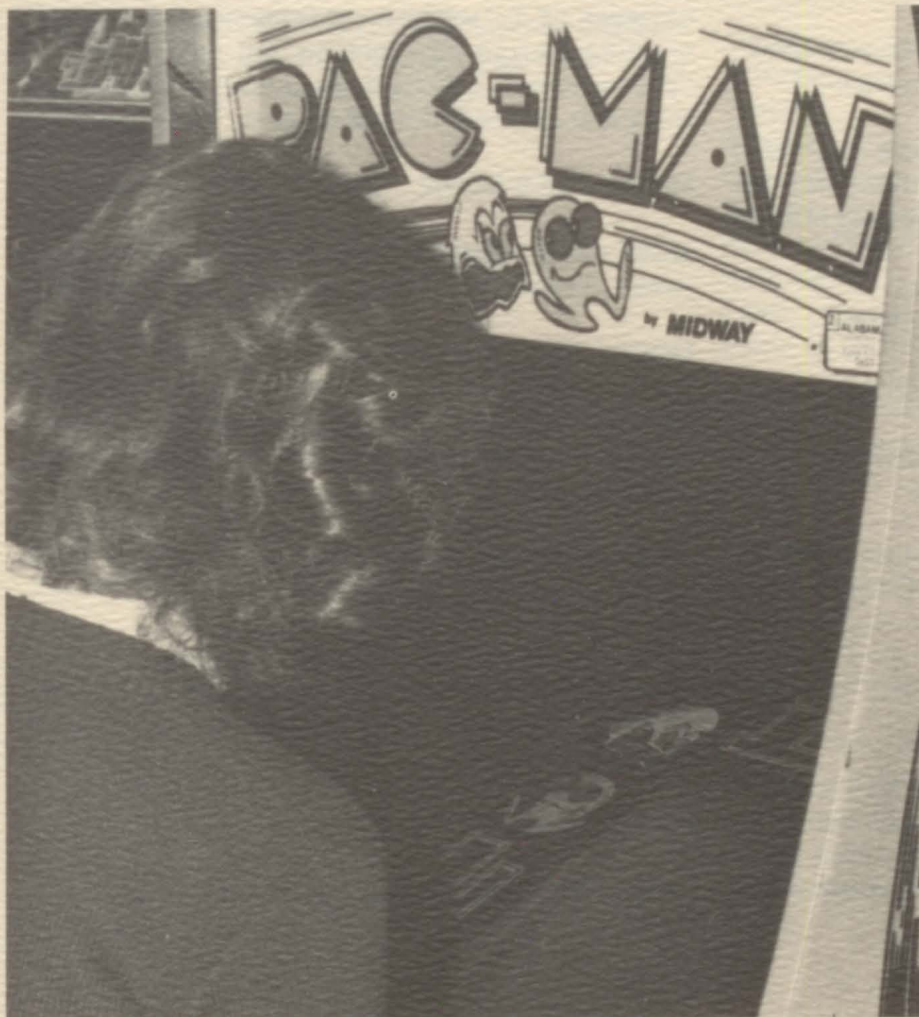

Older teens face the serious problem of acne and zits during their years. It seems that another favorite pastime is mashing those bumps. It is a gory thing to do, but it is really neat watching as Lynn Patterson, Marlene Stephens, and Angel Johnson demonstrate.

VIDEO MANIA

MINI MAG

Doo Doo . . . Doo Doo . . . Doo-DooDoo. Voo Doo. Voo Doo. Whop! Bleep.

No, this is not a new code for typists. These celestial looking terms are just some typical sounds that video games make.

Anyone who has ever unloaded a pocketful of quarters in a game of Space Invaders, Asteroids or Pac-Man knows that video games are the most incredible money-grabbers to hit this country since rock-n-roll. No one really understands why these games are better than playing Old Maid, but they are.

A relaxant for some, a stimulant for others, video games never cease to deliver whatever their players want. They are here to stay and LHS students are exuberant.

PEOPLE'S PICKS

MINI MAG

FAVORITE—SUBJECT: Lunch and recess; then English.

FAVORITE TEACHER: Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Mitchell.

MOST FEARED EVENT: Exams and death. WW III was also mentioned.

FAVORITE CARTOON: The Smurfs were way out front, but Bugs Bunny is still well-liked.

FAVORITE PLACE TO EAT: McDonalds is everyone's fast food restaurant. On the local scene, Jack's and Annie's are neck and neck.

FAVORITE DRINK: Pepsi! Mountain Dew is the second choice and tea was mentioned several times.

FAVORITE SOAP: Ivory or Zest. For those with television, "General Hospital" won by a landslide.

FAVORITE TOILET PAPER: Mr. Whipple has most people squeezing Charmin. Some of those who believe in "roughing" it like the generic brands or even sand paper.

FAVORITE SHOES: Nike out runs all others.

FAVORITE CLOTHES: Jeans with anything else.

FAVORITE BRAND OF JEANS: With all the designer labels today, good ol' Levis is still #1.

FAVORITE CAR: Trans Am is what most would like to drive, and Corvete is the second pick. Cadallac is for those that like big cars.

FAVORITE MAGAZINE: The girls like "Teen" while the guys say that they read "Play Boy".

FAVORITE BOOK: "Gone With The Wind" is an all time classic. It's nothing new, but it is probably the most known title. Also noted: The boys that listed "Play Boy" claimed the Bible as their favorite book.

FAVORITE T.V. SHOW: Without a doubt, everyone loves "Mash". Besides watching re-runs, it's "The A-Team" in the number-one position.

MOST HATED T.V. SHOW: "Dallas" with "Square Pegs" right behind.

FAVORITE PLACE TO GO ON A DATE: The movies is the number-one answer. After the show, "Going Parking" is a favorite thing to do. Parking is the second answer if not going to the movie.

MOST DISLIKED THING TO DO ON A DATE: Just talking! Answers ranged from spending money to being at home by twelve o'clock.

FAVORITE MOVIE: There were several popular hits; however, "E.T." will be most remembered. The alien creature caused no problems but only wanted to "phone home". E.T. made the cover of many magazines and grossed more than ever "Star Wars".

MOST HATED MOVIE: "Ghandi" and "Grease II".

MOST HATED SONGS: There was a three-way tie between "Physical", "Stray Cat Strut" and "Mickey".

MOST LIKED FOOD: Pizza.

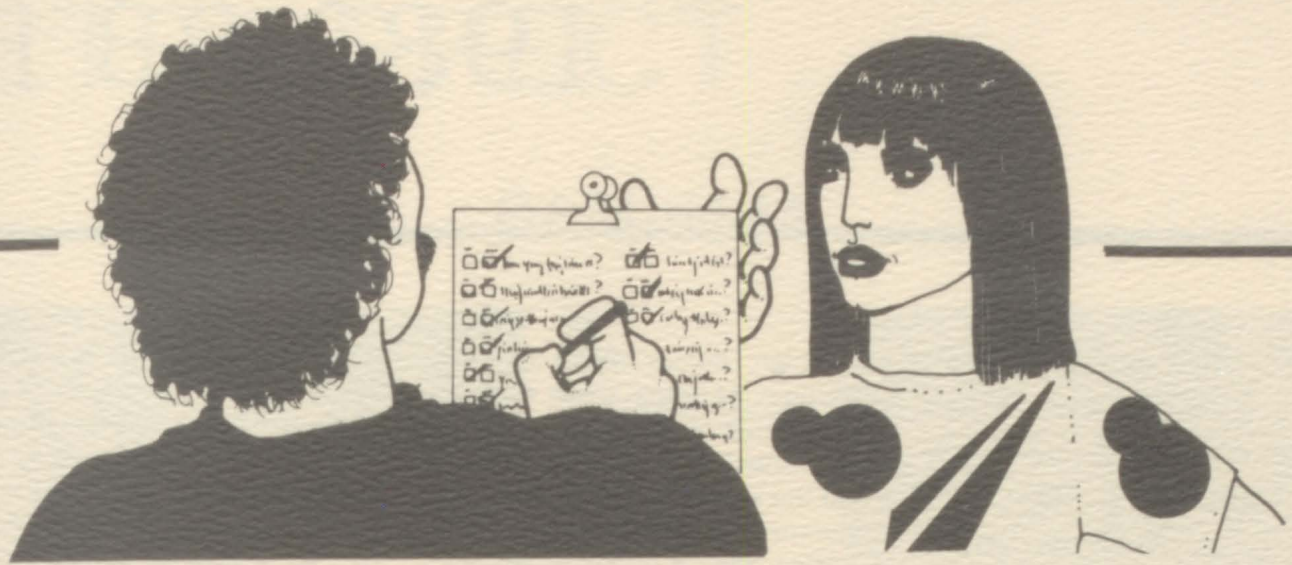

MOST HATED FOOD: No one eats spinach. Answers ranged from greasy foods and expensive foods to cafeteria eating.

MOST HATED SUBJECT: Math was not liked at all. Guess we will just have to ban it.

BEST LIKED MUSICAL GROUP: The group Alabama, country music's three-time entertainer of the year recipients. The rock 'n roll of Journey also has many followers.

FAVORITE ACTOR: Mr. T

FAVORITE ACTRESS: Linda Evans of "Dynasty."

FAVORITE SAYING: "Cornball" and "Whatever floats your boat".

FAVORITE CUT DOWN: "You're so ugly" and "Your Mama" and "Bag your face".

FAVORITE QUESTION: "Have I got a booger?"

MOST ANTICIPATED EVENT: The answer of any self-respecting student is summer. However, responses ranged from E.T. II to snow flurries.

The year was filled with surprising new faces, controversies, violence, war, and the jobless. The "E.T." phenomenon, poisoned pills, and the birth of a prince; all made the headlines during the 82-83 school year.

Americans were horrified when John Hinkley attempted to kill President Ronald Reagan. He was motivated by a bizarre fixation on movie star Jodie Foster.

A controversy over a small group of islands off the coast of South America, the Falklands, led to a war between England and Argentina which England won after months of fighting.

It was the year that Leonid Brezhnev died, ending his relatively benign 18-year rule of the Soviet Union. At home, there was sorrow enough in the growing toll of joblessness and business failures and the still gloomy prospects for economic recovery.

After several people died from taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with deadly doses of cyanide, officials focused on the chilling possibility that an "over the counter" terrorist was at large murdering consumers with a product they had come to trust.

Barney Clark, the first recipient of an artificial heart, valiantly lived 112 days and made medical history with the first of such man-made hearts.

In sports, there were eight weeks without pro football during the player strike. The Cardinals beat the Brewers in the World Series. The Washington Redskins won the Super Bowl.

The death of recently retired

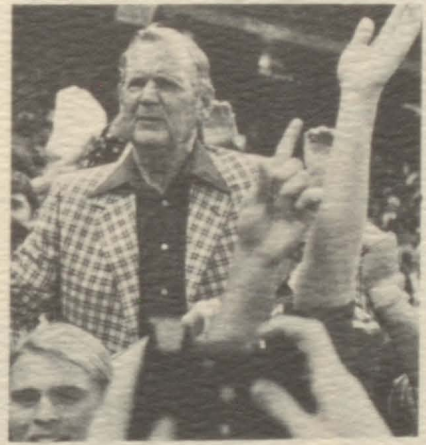

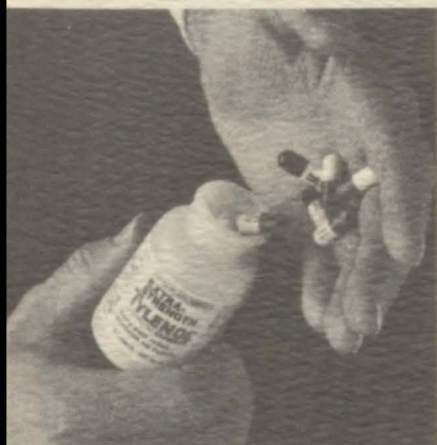

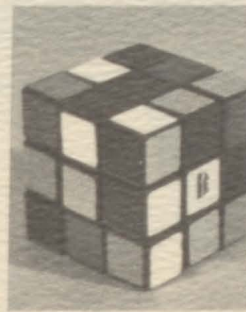

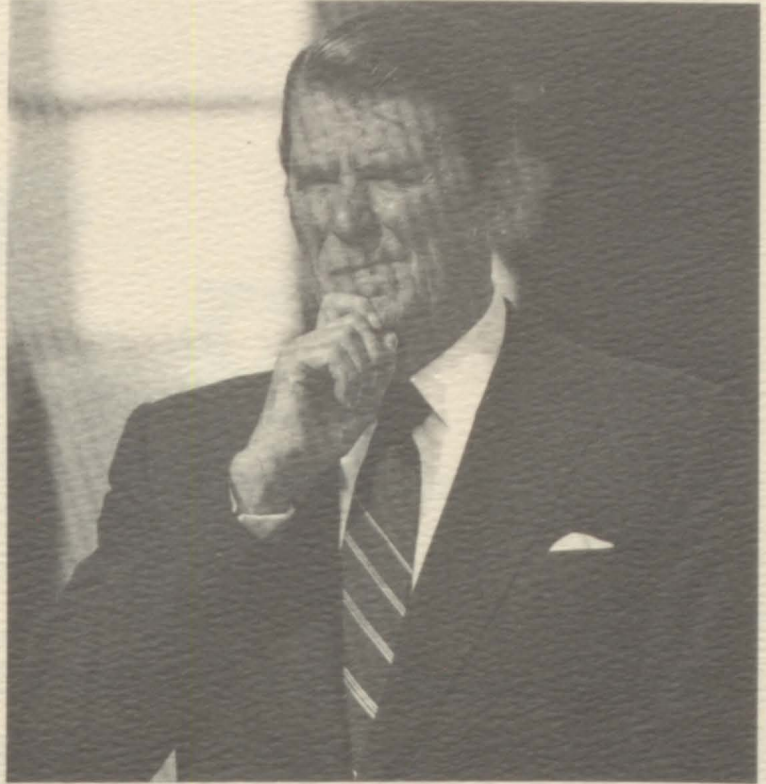

"Bear" Bryant of the University of Alabama, the nation's winningest football coach in history, brought national media and mourning fans to Tuscaloosa for the funeral. Teacher institute gave students the day off to watch the service at home if they chose; while faculty members crowded around a T.V. in the library during their lunch break.

At the movies, Sylvester Stallone starred in "First Blood" and "Rocky III", while Dustin Hoffman starred in "Tootsie". An oddly enduring little alien gave us all a sense of magic, wonder, and the phrase "E.T. phone home!" "E.T." went on to become one of the most popular movies of all time.

This was also the year of the birth of England's future King, Prince William Arthur Phillip Louis.

It was a year full of events to be remembered.

Alright, alright
Do it, Tigers, do it
We know you can do it.
Do it, Tigers, do it
We know you can do it.
Alright, alright
Prove it, Tigers, prove it
We know you can prove it.
Prove it, Tigers, prove it
We know you can prove it.
Alright, alright
Win it, Tigers, win it
We know you can win it.
Win it, Tigers, win it
We know you can win it.
Alright, alright
ALRIGHT!

Get it, get it, get it, get it,
Got it, got it, got it, got it,
Soul, so let it roll!

H-O-T-T-O-G-O
L.H.S. is hot to go.
Ah-woosh, hot to go
Ah-woosh, hot to go!

With the eye of the tiger,
We're on the run.
Like Rocky III,
We're number ONE.
Watch out, Mr. T.
You're done!

Hey get up, get down,
Let's hear that Tiger sound.
Move it left and right,
Gonna get on up tonight and fight.
Hey get up, get down,
Let's hear that Tiger sound.
Move it left and right,
Gonna get on up tonight and fight.
Ain't we bad now!

The Tiger team is here to prove
That the Tiger team can really
M-O-V-E, Move
Go, go, get 'em, get 'em.
And when you get 'em, beat 'em
Ooh, ah, ooh, ah, ooh ah,
Go get 'em!

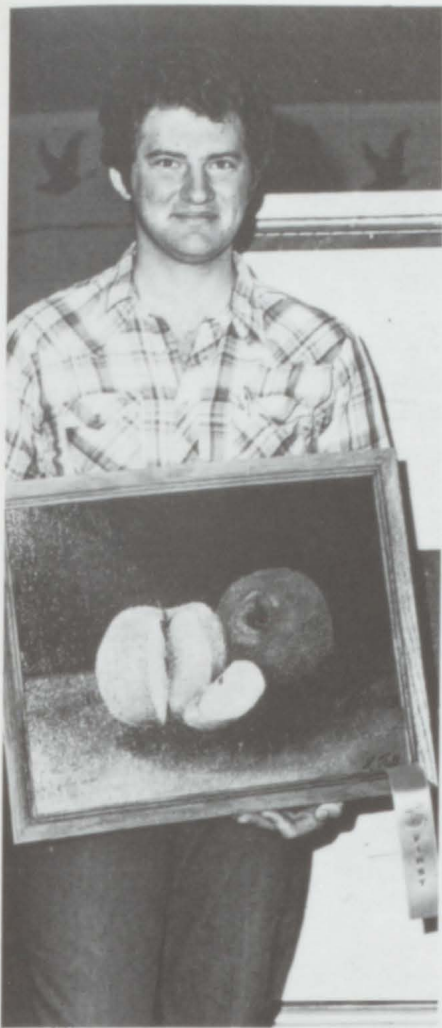

Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na
If you're looking for trouble
You're in the right place.
If you're looking for danger
Just look at my face.
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
We're the mighty Tigers and we're here
to say,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na,
Na-na-na-na-na!

Rock, rock steady,
Rock, rock steady,
Rock, rock, steady-eady,
Your team ain't even ready,
Rock, rock steady
Rock, Rock steady!

Well come on everybody,
Come on everybody.
And show 'em how to jam,
And show 'em how to jam,
Raise that Tiger spirit,
Raise that Tiger spirit,
And let's get down
And let's get down!

We're gonna get you!
Hey, hey we've got that spirit.
Spirit red and white
We've got that spirit.
It's coming out loud tonight!

I say G, I say G
I say O, I say O
I say go, Tigers, go
Uh, shake that thing!
I say F, I say F,
I say I, I say I
I say G, I say G
I say H, I say H
I say T, I say T
I say fight, Tigers, fight
Uh, shake that thing!
I say W, I say W
I say I, I say I
I say N, I say N
I say win, Tigers, win
Uh, shake that thing!
I say go, I say go
I say fight, I say fight
I say win, I say win
I say go, fight, win
Uh, shake that thing!

We Wish You A
MERRY CHRISTMAS

The singing group Alabama had a recent hit "Christmas in Dixie," which summed up the atmosphere around here in December. There were the first grade P.T.A. program, the traditional downtown parade, concerts, and eager anticipation. The pace was hectic with semester exams and shopping, but good will prevailed.

First grader Russ Tranum pulls on his elf's boot in preparation for Santa's busy journey.

Lisa Billings has a problem, a hole in her Christmas stocking.

Lest we forget, this group tells us what Christmas means.

Pee Wee and Termite cheerleaders Jackie Johnson, Dawn Penn, and Julie Davis relax after the parade while listening to the F.F.A. string band.

Mac Watson greets a friendly crowd during the Christmas parade. His fellow gymnastics students are a bit more reserved.

Shawn Penn, a very young Santa, appears very laid back in his role.

String band members Joey Johnson and Joe Wood provide entertainment between drawings for prizes downtown the first Saturday in December.

FLYING HIGH WITH THE TIGERS ...

Athletic Banquet

Honoring athletes, telling jokes, reminiscing, listening to a speaker, and eating all contributed to the success of the athletic banquet. Athletes and cheerleaders, dressed in their finest, came to hear coaches, sponsors, and Quarterback Club members praise their many achievements.

Varsity football captains Eddie Stroud and Floyd Wright welcome everyone to the festivities.

Coach Brown recognizes the senior athletes, discusses his good looks, and cracks another of his stale jokes.

Cheerleader sponsor Mrs. Dickey shares a laugh with the cheerleaders Rita McLeod and Lynn Patterson as she presents them with gifts in recognition of their dedicated work.

Coach Jay Jeffcoat from Charles Henderson High School was a most inspirational speaker. Here he gives us some thoughts to ponder on rules to play and live by.

Eddie Norris and Danny Stephens look so handsome in their Sunday best and a far cry from the dynamos they are on the football field.

Quarterback Club member Danny Rogers presents Edward Green with the Billy Beasley Scholastic trophy.

SAIL ON

The Jr. Class's own "Commodores" Kenny Washington, Lee Don Bodiford, Daryl Foster, and Grant Perdue, sing the theme song; "Sail On."

Lisa Sipper smiles at the audience as she does her version of "Snowbird".

The 11th grade girls carried out the theme to "Surfing USA"

These lovelies do a hula dance to the "Surf City Medley."

Chris Helms, Lori Richburg, Toni Brazell, and Greg Pittman are surely "Decked-out" for the occasion.

You can tell Vickie Dorman ate her "wheaties" this morning by the way she is struggling with the straw.

Lisa Roush undertakes the difficult job of hanging streamers.

The finishing touches are added to the gym on preparation for the big night.

Tony Beck and Joey Johnson have the look of satisfaction as the work of the Jr.-Sr. is nearly completed.

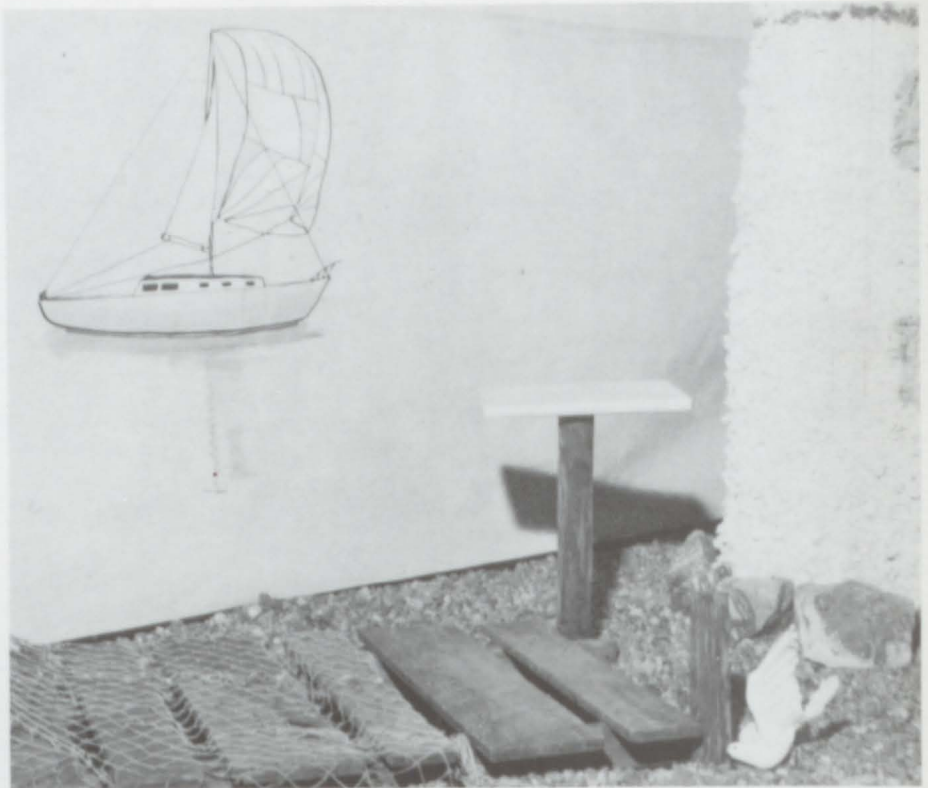

Joey Johnson serves as "Captain of the Ship" during the banquet.

SAILING ON INTO THE WEE HOURS

The juniors and seniors knew how to enjoy their time together. The prom was no exception. They extended the hours to include an early morning breakfast prepared and served by a number of enthusiastic, if exhausted, parents.

The theme was "Sail On", and the gym was beautiful as shown in this backdrop for the prom photos.

The breakfast prepared by parents of seniors was delicious after the hard workout on the dance floor. Exhausted seniors Ginny Lee and Kathy Atkinson look as if they've had their full of both.

Gary Garner seems seriously interested in something across the room instead at his date.

The Jr.-Sr. is not only a fun time for students but for parents as well as one can tell by the smiles on the faces of Dawn's parents, Bill and Clara King.

Janet Nichols flashes her million dollar smile as she eagerly prepares her plate at the senior breakfast.

Mark Cooper demands more food while Robby Morrow looks as if he is already stuffed.

Tony Hodge seems to be storing food for winter as he packs away his meal, as well as Pam Walton's.

Marlene Stephens helps herself to a second serving of grits.

BAND BANQUET WE MAY NEVER PASS THIS WAY AGAIN

The LBW Singers provided a show-stopping performance for those who attended the banquet.

Mr. Sheehan stands behind the top band students. Wanda Bolding, most improved musician; Angel Johnson, most outstanding musician, Angie Phillips, most dedicated musician; and Randy Claybrook, best all around musician.

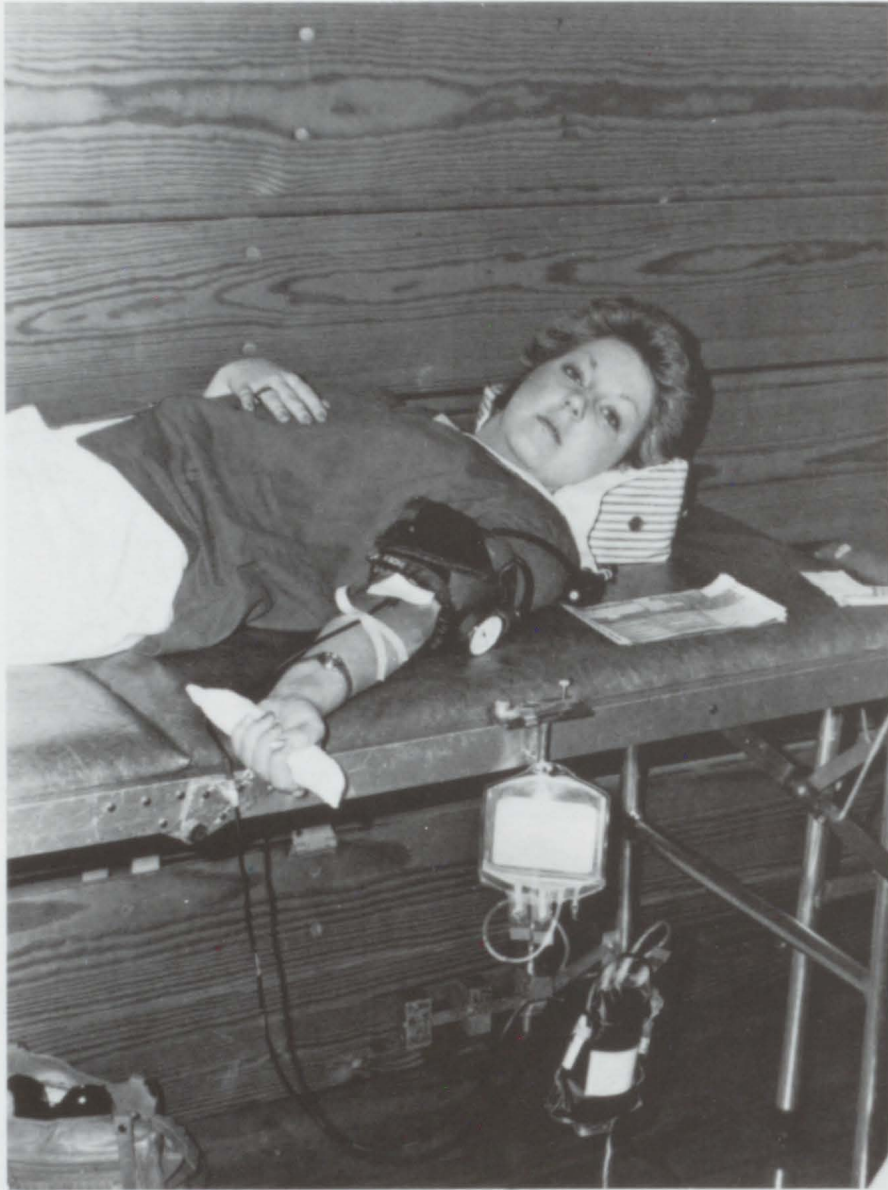

Mr. Sheehan and his wife, Kim, seem to have really enjoyed the program.

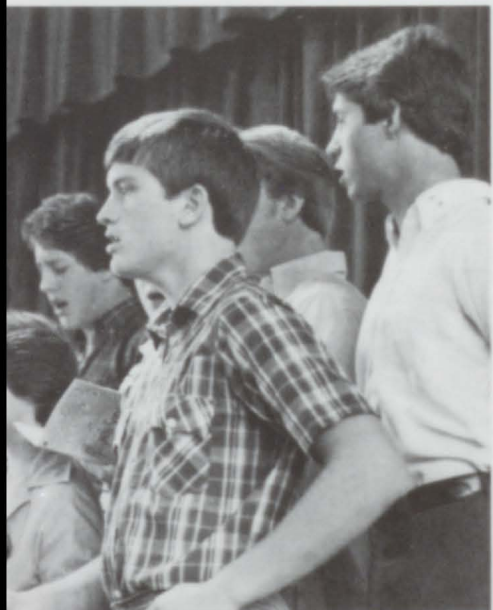

Melissa Bozeman and Mike McDougald are all dressed up and anxious to dance after their first high school banquet.

This year the band fund-raising project was the sale of "band bucks". The top salespersons were: Randy Claybrook, 3rd; Mike McDougald, 2nd; and Tracy Sims, top salesperson.

Those completing class requirements and recognized at the banquet were: Jim Tome, 2nd class; Wanda Bolding, 1st class; Angel Johnson, master's class; and Lisa Defee, 1st class.

ORGANIZA- TIONS

PANORAMA

People Behind The Pages

The Panorama preliminaries began in June when Mrs. Watson, Randy Claybrook, Dale Ballard, and Lynn Patterson attended a workshop at the University of South Alabama. Long hours of hard work earned the yearbook eight free pages of color when they were recognized as the most Outstanding School.

Many long, tiring hours were spent this year on the Panorama but we also had many fun times, such as our annual Christmas Party. However, under the direction of "Miss" Sue Watson, the 1983 PANORAMA STAFF succeeded in producing another outstanding yearbook.

PANORAMA STAFF—kneeling, Rita McLeod, Marlene Stephens, Leon Hall, Joey Johnson, Lamar Hill, standing, Dale Ballard, Debbie McLeod, Tonya Cauthen, Dawn King, Daphane Mitchell, Vickie Dorman, Lisa Sipper, Ruth Perkins, and Mrs. Watson, Sponsor.

Caption writing often became very tedious as shown by the facial expressions of Lynn Paterson, Marlene Stephens and Angel Johnson.

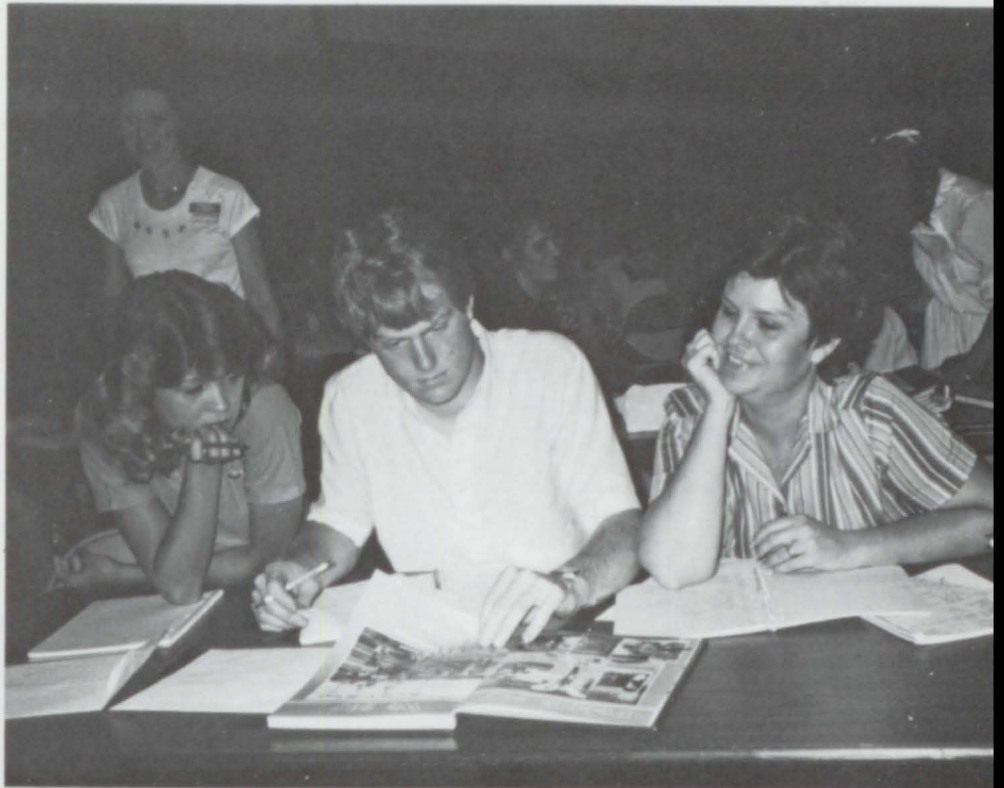

Focusing in on school activities were photographers Dale Ballard and Randy Claybrook.

Ads and index would have been a toilsome task without Debbie McLeod and Tonya Cauthen.

Yearbook Workshop at the University of South Alabama, Mobile, was fun but a lot of work. Here Lynn Patterson, Randy Claybrook, and Mrs. Watson pore over another school's search of creative ideas.

PANORAMA'S Expert typists were Lisa Sipper and Tonya Cauthen.

The chore of copy writing was undertaken by Lamar Hill, Lynn Patterson, Daphane Mitchell, Marlene Stephens, and Dawn King.

Classes were compiled by Ruth Perkins, Leon Hall, Rita McLeod, Joey Johnson, and Vicki Dorman.

PANORAMA HOW IT BEGINS . . . AND ENDS.

It all begins at workshop in June when Mrs. Watson and three or four staff members trudge off to Mobile and the University of South Alabama for three days instruction in how it should be done. Creative ideas and the basic layout are brought back to the entire staff for their approval and work. After-school and late-night sessions of copy writing, layout designing, cropping, and pecking on the old typewriter are made a bit more bearable with junk food, congenial workers, and an interested advisor.

This year's product, a two-hundred page book full of pictures, stories, and memories, is little evidence of the dedication of the group involved in putting it together. There were Saturdays when we sold balloons while most of the student body watched a parade; and nights when we wrote, rewrote, typed, and retyped, long past the 10:00 news. Those not directly involved could never possibly appreciate all the work involved, but neither could they imagine the excitement of yearbook arrivals and knowing part of the book is really yours.

Angel Johnson and Randy Claybrook work closely on layouts and planning of pages for each deadline.

Herff Jones representatives congratulate editor Randy Claybrook on winning eight color pages given for best school participation at workshop.

TIGER RAG

Riddle: What's a school newspaper with only two editions a year? Answer: DEAD! That was the situation with the TIGER RAG this year—only two editions and one of them by the underclassmen in honor of the graduating seniors. The staff was capable but just never seemed to get it together. Attempts were made several times to get an edition out, but something always seemed to prevent it.

TOMORROW'S EDUCATORS

Student Action for Education was one of the most actively involved groups on campus. It paid off, too. For the second year in a row, one of our members was selected as state Mr. SAFE. Also, our nominees, Randy Claybrook and Lynn Patterson, were district Mr. S.A.F.E. and Miss S.A.F.E. Angel Johnson was elected as a state board member, and our talent participants won at district and state levels.

These 7 girls had the "Eye of the Tiger" look that won them a 2nd place rating in the talent division at State Competition

BLOOD DRIVE

Robbie Morrow appears rather complacent and relaxed as he contributes for a worthy cause.

John Kilpatrick shows us how painless giving blood really is.

Every year SAFE sponsors a blood drive in January to help meet the need after the holidays. It was very successful as the group collected more blood than had been donated in the last few years.

FFA BAND

The F.F.A. Band performed at various events such as the Miss L.H.S. Beauty Pageant, Luverne Christmas Parade, and a String Band program, and they were asked to perform at other events. The group won the Crenshaw County competition and did very well at the district competition held at Troy State University. The members are Robbie Morrow, Lisa Sipper, Sherri Watkins, Joe Wood, Tony Hodge, Mark Cooper, Joey Johnson, and Bobby Tomberlin.

The Quartet consist of Joey Johnson, Gary Garner, Robbie Morrow, and Tony Hodge.

Robbie Morrow and Bobby Tomberlin were a great combination at the program during school to raise money for the band.

Tony Hodge and Jowy Johnson display one of their many talents; although Tony seems a bit surer of his guitar than Joey.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Blue chapter officers: Scott Brown, Sentinel; Waller Martin, Vice-President; Rita McLeod, Reporter; Robby Morrow, Sentinel; and Joey Johnson, President

The top fruit salesmen: Floyd Wright, third place; Waller Martin, second place; and Tony Beck, first place.

Money-making projects; local, district, and state competition of teams, band, and quartet; building a greenhouse; selling greenhouse plants; and establishing a truck garden kept the F.F.A. members and advisers busy all year. Sales were a whopping success, both the band and quartet won at the county level, and several of the various teams placed high in the local and district meets. In all areas it was a most productive year.

SPORTS

SUMMER PRACTICE

Being a football player is more than Friday night games and being in the spotlight. It requires long hours of practice which start in early August. Although it takes much dedication, the hard work during the "good ole summer time" pays off during the season.

Offensive end Carl Massey stretches out for a toe touch to get his legs in shape for all the running that is to come.

Coach Daniel's straw hat became a very familiar sight on the hot summer days. Here he strikes a pensive pose as he oversees the troops.

Quarterback Lamar Hill shows the proper way to carry the ball as he hugs it close during a practice run.

To increase quickness, reflex drills are used. Eddie Stroud and Keith Kilpatrick seem alert and ready for any possibility.

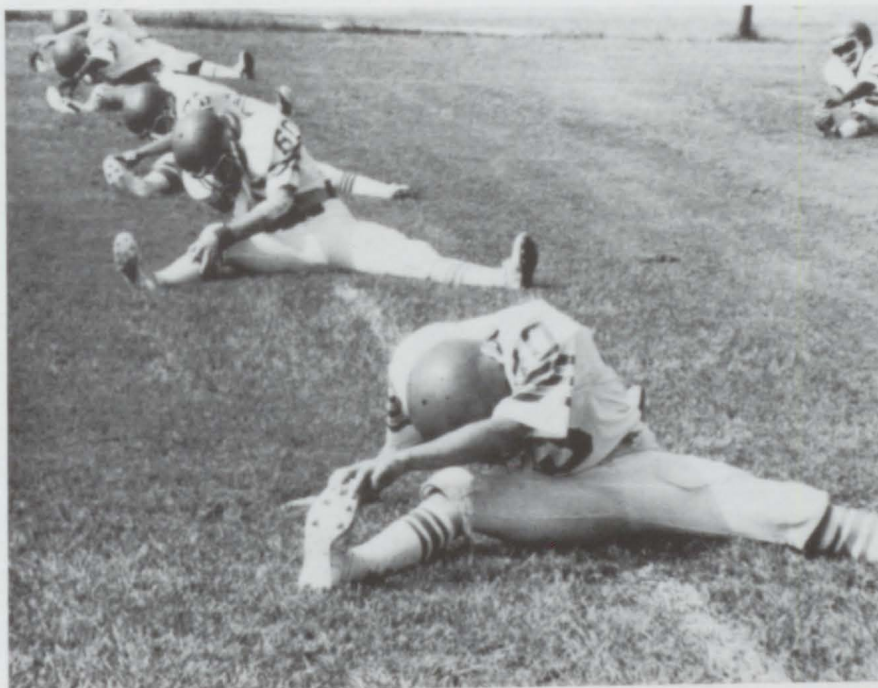

Place kicker Floyd Wright was to see much game action. After a dislocated shoulder curtailed his other playing, he was called in to kick. He is shown putting in practice time while Eddie Jackson holds.

Coach Brown likes doing things by the book. Here he reviews blocking plays as Rickey Mitchell holds the dummy.

Mark Cooper appears to lead the pack in one of the many stretching exercises needed to loosen muscles, increasing speed, and preventing injuries.

Coach Daniel keeps his book close at hand to keep practice on schedule and to make notes about different plays.

Hitting is the most fun, even if it is one's own teammates.

1983 TIGERS

Anticipated state play-offs, and dreams of being number one in the state never materialized. To beat mighty Elba and then to lose to New Brockton and Georgiana seemed too much to take. The record was 5-4-1. However, it was not a bad season. Even with our four losses, only ten points separated us from a perfect season.

MANAGERS: Marvin Smith, Phillip Garner, Jim Free.

COACHES: Mike Morgan, Doug Brown, Glenn Daniel, Bobby Owens.

FOOTBALL

The 1982 Season started off with a lot of enthusiasm among the students, as well as the players and coaches. As the first game of the season rolled around, the players were hoping to have another successful season. Luverne corraled Dozier Tigers in a well-fought battle. The Tigers came out on top 39-10. LHS Tigers wasted little displaying their aggression.

The Tigers, coming off an impressive win, were held scoreless by a scrappy defensive unit for the first half of play when the Tigers met the Goshen Eagles. The Tigers came out the second half wasting little time finding the end-zone. The Tigers pasted a 20-0 win over the Goshen Eagles.

Facing the Class 3-A Elba Tigers and anxiously anticipating a second year win against Elba, the blood rushed as the Tigers won a thrilling 19-13 verdict after coming from behind.

Turnovers terminated Luverne's string of three consecutive wins this season, as the New Brockton Gamecocks capitalized on three Tiger miscues to win a slim 17-14 contest.

Next came the "Battle of the Schools". The Tigers met the Brantley Bulldogs head on. Neither team, due to the other's defensive efforts, was able to consistently move the ball any distance throughout the game. The Tigers took the first score in the first half with the Bulldogs following suit four minutes later. This giving both teams 7 points each.

The battle of the defenses continued throughout the second half, with both teams unable to score. Coach Daniel elected to run final fifty seconds off the clock, settling for a 7-7 tie.

Resting easier but not certain, the Tigers next took on the Highland Home Flying Squadron and clipped their wings with a score of 22-0.

Georgiana was to be the deciding factor as to whether we went to state playoffs. Dominating the first half of play, a win seemed in the bag, but Georgiana came back second half to win a heartbreaking 8-7.

Homecoming against Flomaton meant the team had to prove their mental and physical ability. And prove it they did with an overpowering score of 27-0.

The Florala Wildcats held off a last minute scoring surge by a determined LHS squad and walked away with a close 18-14 decision game.

YOUNG TIGERS

B Team

Few games, low scores, and no claims to fame, but we were gritty, and ready for action. The record was nothing to brag about, but we did beat Highland Home and Georgiana, making the season something of a success and a great deal of fun.

Nelson May and Jim Tate take a Pepsi break during half time of a hot afternoon game.

. . . AND CHEERLEADERS

Yelling at football and basketball games, working on homecoming and the athletic banquets, leading cheers at pep rallies, or substituting for varsity cheerleaders, these seven girls always gave it their all and with a ready smile. They exemplified the true Tiger spirit.

A FEW GOOD MEN

There were more than seven players out for basketball when practice began, but when Coach Owens laid out his plans for the team, only seven were left. Hard work and strict discipline did not appeal to all those who enjoyed the playing. The determined few who were left pushed their bodies and talents to the hilt and completed the season with ten wins, and ten losses, for the best record in recent years.

Coach Owens goes over pregame strategy with all his players as scorekeeper Courtney Hamilton looks on.

Giving one of the starting five a breather, substitute Travis Stringer takes the ball down court during an afternoon game.

Referee Scotty Sauers, with his comic antics, has been a regular for several seasons. Here he prepares to let Carl Massey inbound the ball.

Carl Massey goes away off the floor for a two pointer against Dozier while Eddie Jackson and James Daniels come up for a possible rebound.

A real battle for the ball ensues as a Highland Home player attempts to prevent Carl Massey's shot.

JOAN'S GYMNASTS

Joan Howard's gymnastics classes were filled long before school started in August, and waiting lists for all classes were established. With so much interest and enthusiasm, the classes and performances could be nothing short of professional.

Beginner class—front: Tracy Coggins, Jenny Walther, Heather Alsbrooks. Middle: Tammy West, assistant and Joan Howard, instructor. Back: Haley Beasley, Mac Watson, Mickey Norman, Wes Davis, and Alexandria Sennechal.

Intermediate class—Front: Leigh Hooks, Angie Franks, Heather Davis, Adrian Bees, Kristi Sims, Dawn Penn, and Kim Shakspeare. Middle: Regina Owens, Melinda Morgan, Jane Holladay, Laura Holladay. Back: Tammy West, and Joan Howard.

Advanced class—front: Susan Stephens, Shannon Tomlin, Tammy West and Joan Howard, instructor. Back: Stacey Jayroe, Melisa Bozeman, Pam Hughes, Sonya Riley, and Lisa Hooks.

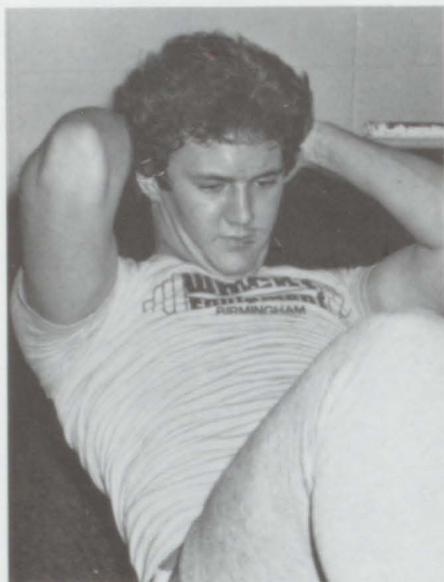

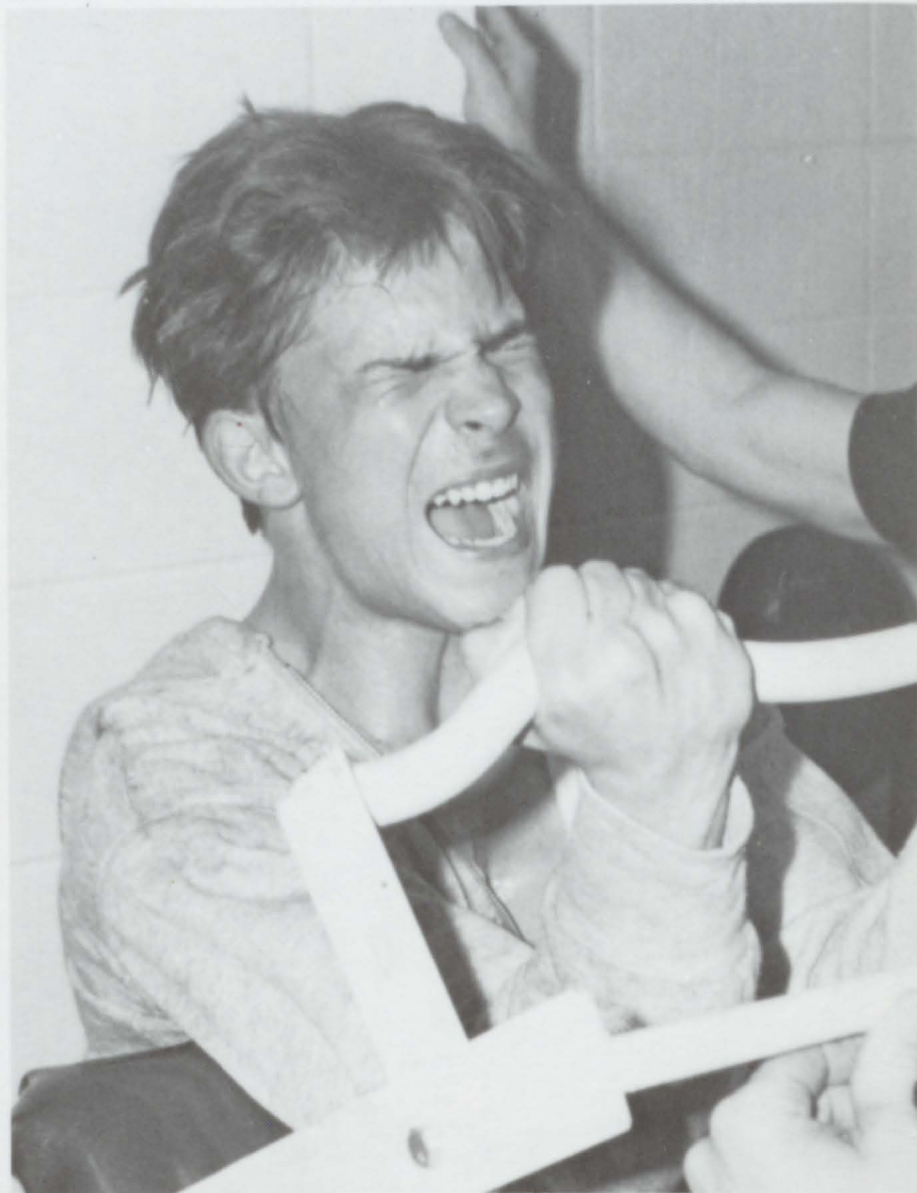

WEIGHTLIFTING

The new weightlifting room has become a valuable asset to the athletic program. Lifting weights will help to strengthen our young men and improve their performance in all sports, thus giving them the edge needed to win the coming season.

Ronnie Barbaree seems to be putting a last attempt on his curls.

Chris Helms does necessary warm ups before lifting weights.

Phillip Garner works to strengthen his leg muscles.

Robert Dillard strengthens his neck muscles

Big Slim Norris is in training to become the stuntman double for Mr. T. in the hit series "The "A" Team."

"Concentration" is the name of the game and Robert Dilliard has plenty of it.

Bubba Destin grits his teeth and bears the painstaking process of weightlifting.

Keith Kilpatrick and Steve Oliver stand by to lend a helping hand to Greg Welch.

Scott Brown and Alan Coggins look on as Joey Johnson puts to use his manly strength.

ALL STATE!! VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

Practice sessions until 3 a.m., classes at 8 a.m., exhaustion to the point of going to sleep on the cement sidewalk were all a part of cheerleader clinic in August, but the long hours and hard work paid off. All-State in both football and basketball! Never before had any of our own accomplished such a feat. This hard work and skill, along with a great deal of spirit carried over into the cheering at the games and pep rallies and kept the entire student body in the act.

A smiling Mona Mullins lifts a most unsure Lynn Patterson off the floor during a double stunt.

The cheerleaders show off one of their more popular pyramids.

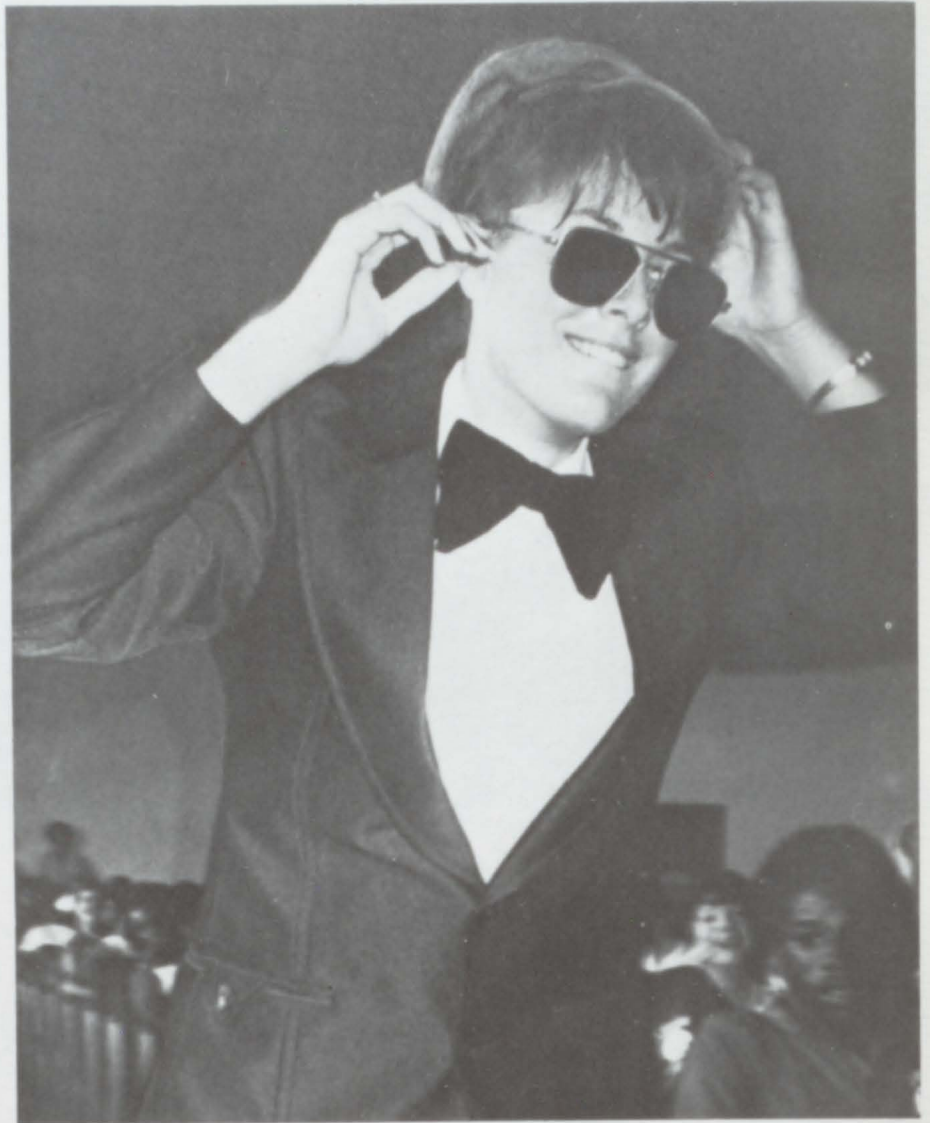

ALL-STATE CHEERLEADERS—Mona Mullins, Angel Johnson, Marlene Stephens, Rita McLeod, and Lynn Patterson.

The many faces of Rah-Rah's.

Character actress Toni Brazell adjusts her halo before another heavenly pep rally.

Marlene Stephens, Lori Richburg, and Mona Mullins show us their moves and tiger paws.

Missy Schofield smiles for the camera with the official tiger drink, Pepsi.

Long legs, agility, and winning personalities make these two, Lori Richburg and Lynn Patterson, unique.

Sherri Watkins and Lynn Patterson pucker up in preparation for the pep rally preliminaries.

Rita McLeod, Marlene Stephens, and Emmie Perkins load another on Mean Gene's ambulance machine as evidence of Tiger dominance.

Mona Mullins supports Rita McLeod in a basketball cheer.

The cheerleaders await the football team to lead them in to the beat of the fight song.

SWINGING SLUGGERS

The baseball team, led by Coach Glenn Daniel, had one of their more successful years; for the first time ever the Tigers made it to the Alabama State 2-A semi-finals by defeating Dale County and J.F. Shields. They were barely edged out of the state finals by a split-decision with Holtville. The overall record was 12-3.

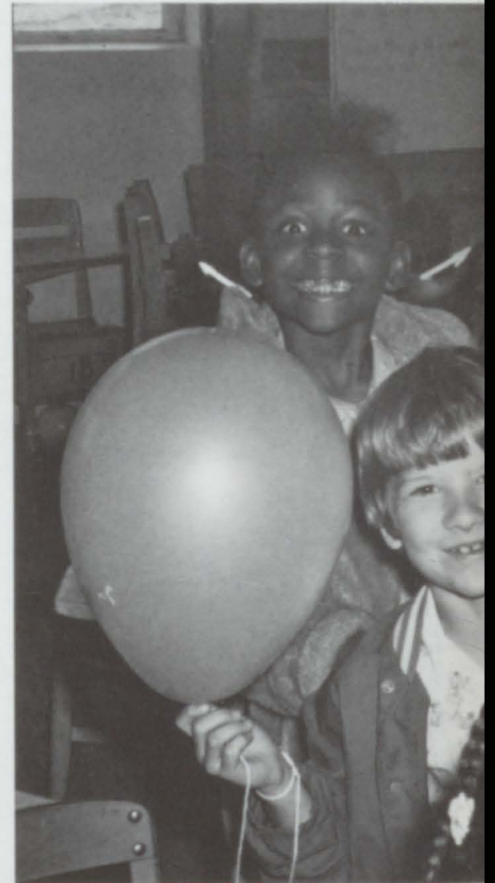

Senior Lamar Hill patiently awaits the perfect pitch.

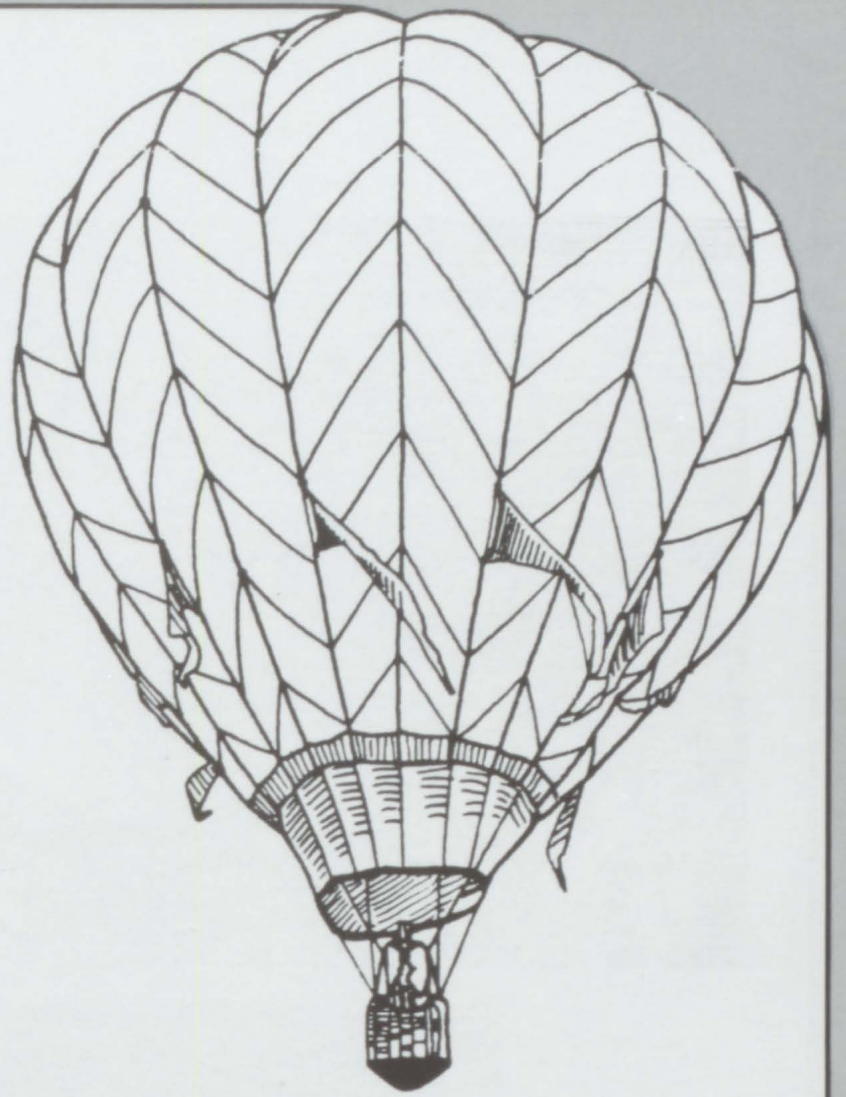

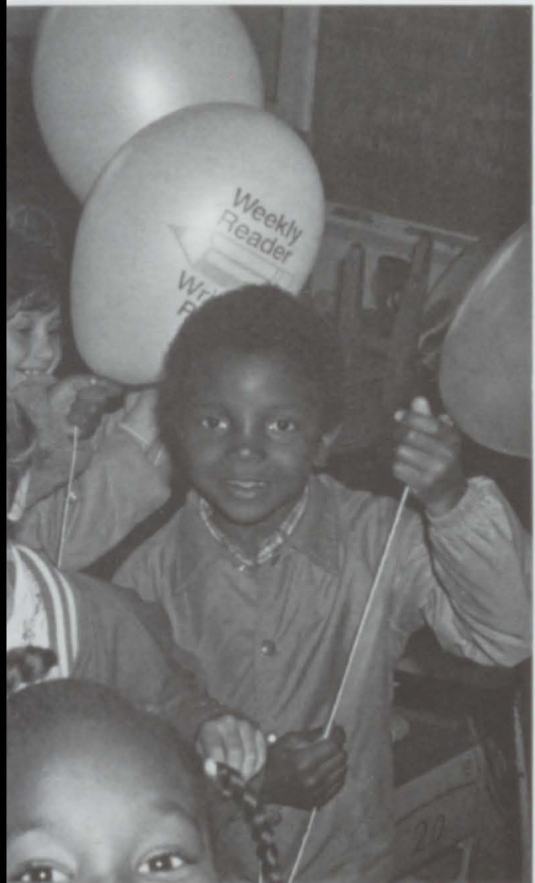

After years of coaching baseball, Coach Daniel is still trying to figure out how to hold the ball.

Roderick Clayton grins with a look of confidence as the team is on the road to victory.

With only one season loss, Tim Brown signifies that the Tigers are State Playoff bound.

KINDERGARTEN AND SIXTH GRADE GRADUATION

Bucky Brown is glad to receive his diploma from Mr. Davis and enter high school.

The kindergarten class graduated with a program about time. In these two pictures some of the classmates show the different times of the year with posters for each month.

Clay Helms enjoys the punch at the tea after sixth grade graduation.

Ricky Johnson takes the diploma but doesn't care to smile for the photographer.

Leslie Claybrook and the beginner band show their talents by performing for parents and friends.

Graduation is simply all smiles and happiness for these girls.

William Simmons and Danny Wood lead the singing of "My Home In Alabama".

ELEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

This group of first graders relax with refreshments after the annual Easter egg hunt.

The first grade, in connection with WEEKLY READER, sponsored a balloon day to obtain pen pals. This group readies for the launch.

Kindergartener Angela Bozeman, in her clown costume is ready for Trick or Treat as she munches on a candy apple at the Fall Festival.

Adrienne Bees, Mac Watson, Tina Kelly, Candy Dixon, Matthew Keener, and Andrea Peoples are ready to move to the football field to release their helium-filled balloons.

These students enjoy some time out of class at an afternoon basketball game.

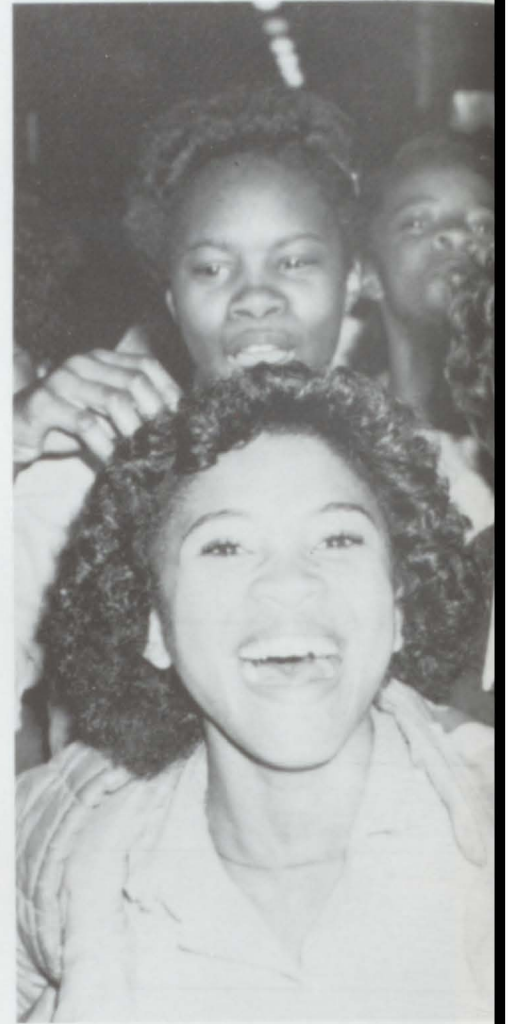

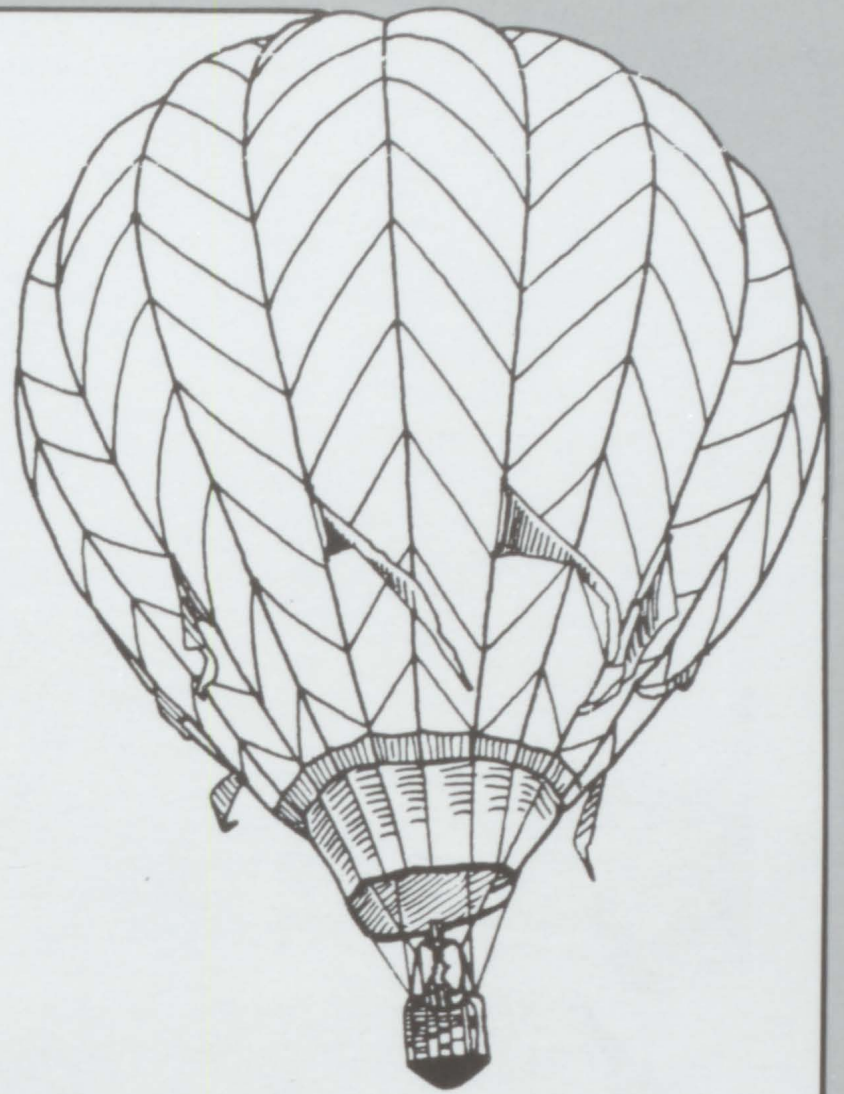

Second graders also enjoyed Easter. This group prepares for their in-class party.

Studying did constitute a great part of elementary activities. These sixth graders, Tommy Butts and Donnie Wood are hitting the books while their classmates look on.

A few elementary students could be seen at evening basketball games. Art and Mac Watson and Barry Butler seem more interested in the camera than in this particular game, however.

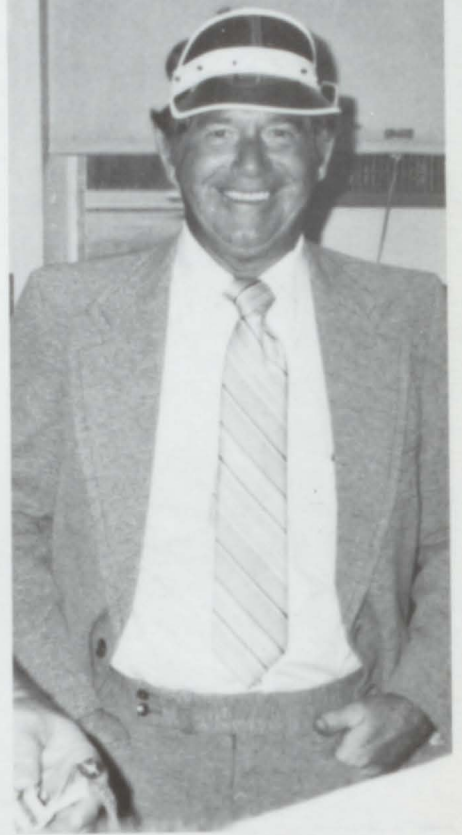

CLASSES

Coach Sport, principal

If Mr. Sport liked anything, it was talking. It seems that he is on the intercom all of first period and then most of the rest of the day.

"Coach" shows us a big grin while modeling a battery-powered cap to be given away as a prize for some paper seller.

Mrs. Lena Mae Carter, high school secretary, is always there to pass out aspirin and give assistance to teachers and students.

Mr. Hollis Smith, vocational school administrator.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Pittman proudly show off the new greenhouse located at the vocational center, which is also home of the agriculture classes.

SENIOR LEADERS

"Miss" LaJuan Tomlin and Coach Brown offered much advice and leadership to the class as senior sponsors and homeroom teachers. Coach Sport, although not a teacher, helped many seniors and college admissions, finding jobs, and personal problems, thus becoming a close friend and advisor of the class.

The senior class officers are Sandra Johnson, vice-president; Ada Perdue, secretary; Tony Hodge, treasurer; and Lamar Hill, president.

MOCK GOVERNMENT

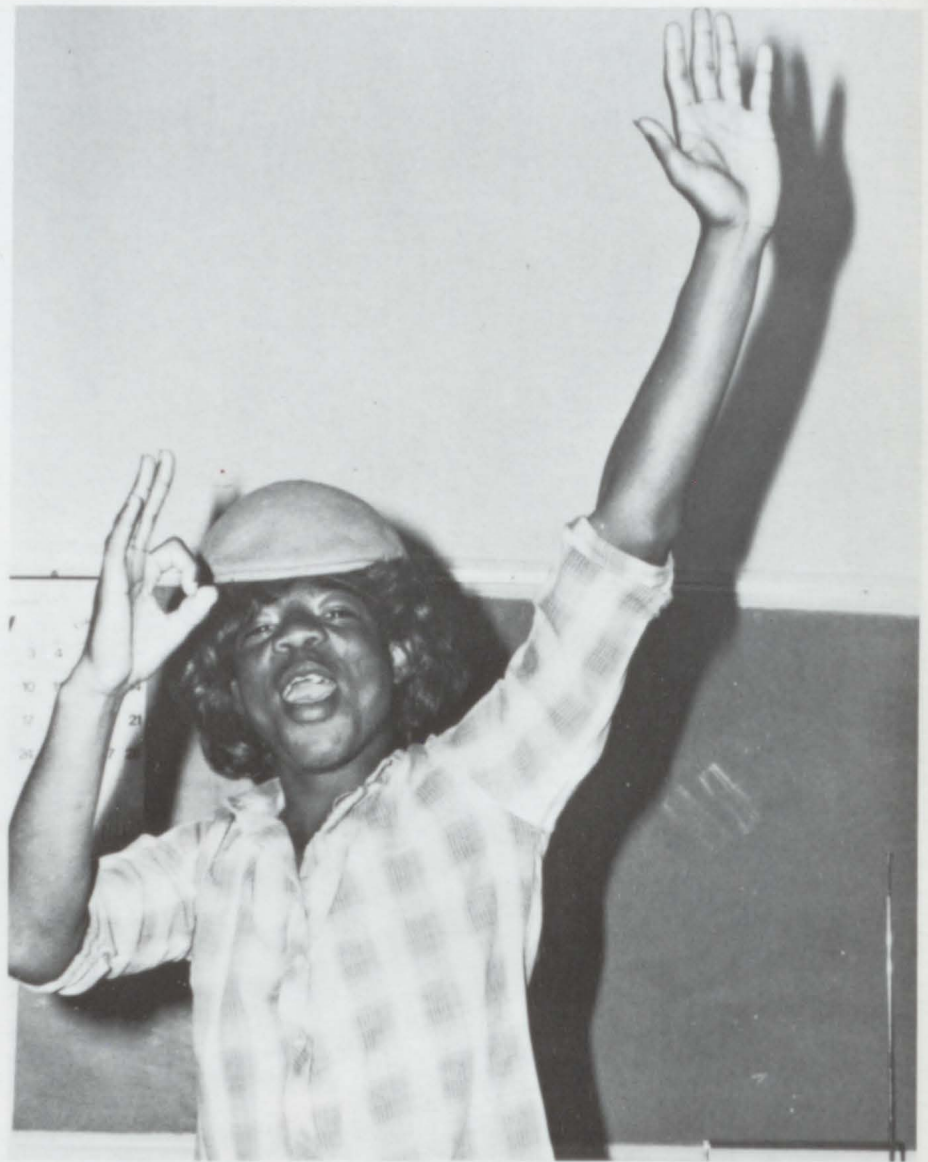

Randy Claybrook attended Boy's State at the U. of Alabama during the summer where he learned much about the workings of the state political system during the week's activities. Randy was the co-party chairman and was also elected state auditor. Dawn King attended Girl's State at Huntingdon College and was elected senator. During the week she participated by writing and debating bills in a mock session of the state legislature.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP BOY AND GIRL

Lynn Patterson and Tony Hodge were among the six nominated by their classmates as Good Citizenship Boy And Girl. They were then selected by the faculty on the basis of their leadership and cooperation.

THE MANY FACES OF SENIORS

Cocky over being seniors and marching into assembly while the undergraduates sat reverently, we had at least sixty different ideas of what being a senior was all about. We were not prepared for all it entailed. Term papers, Chaucer, and budget reports tried our patience and minds; while portraits, invitations, and cap and gown rental strained our wallets. Checking out at lunch under false pretenses, loving Coach Brown's class but dreading Miss LaJuan's, and feeling superior to all the other students let us know we were unique and finally SENIORS.

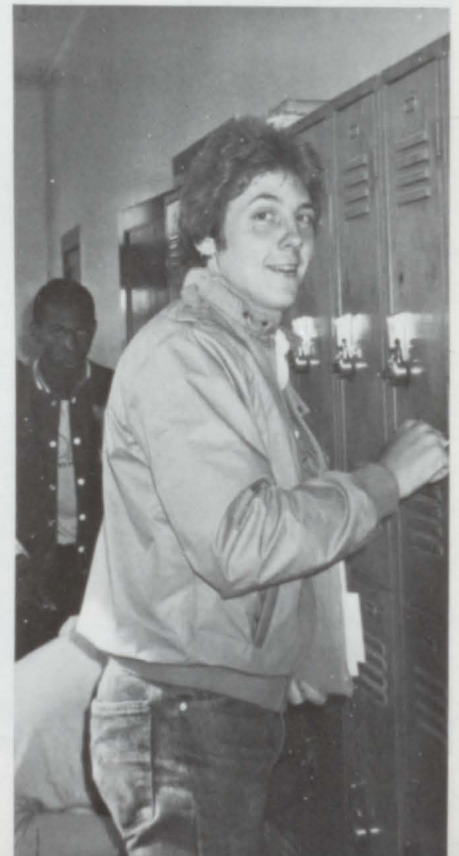

Everything is A-OK with Buckwheat, Daryl Smith.

DaJuna Harris, Carl Massey, and Selena Johnson proudly display their Homecoming spirit.

Danny Duncan seems to have more on his mind than changing classes.

Pam Walton, Kindra Russell, and DaJuna Harris show their spirit by cheering on the seniors at the Red & White game.

Everyone is all smiles, but they still do not out shine Margie Reddock's classy garb for initiation into S.A.F.E.

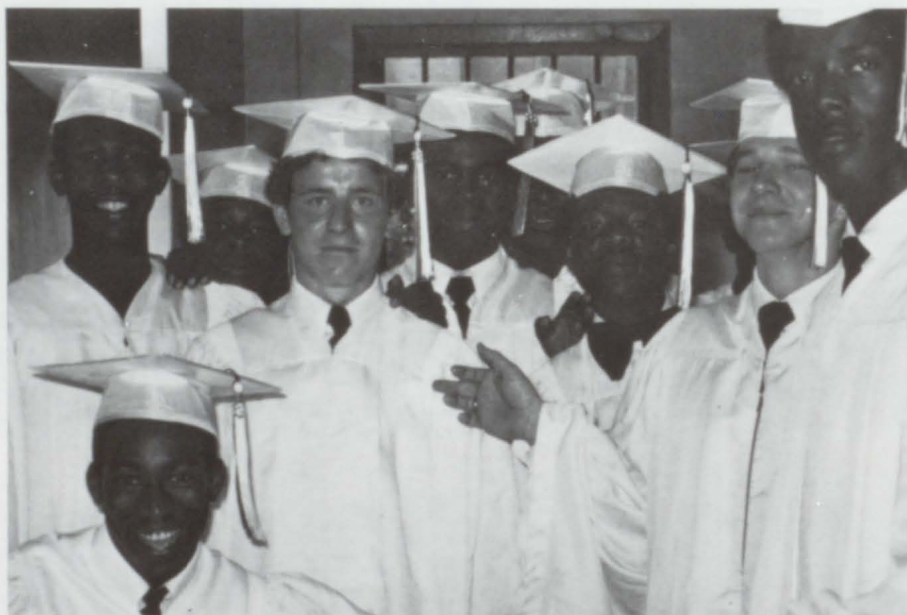

Senior beauties Marlene Stephens, Rita McCleod, and Janet Nichols practice their smiling and strutting during beauty pageant practice.

Sharon Sankey has mouth wide open as she out talks everyone else at ninety to nothing.

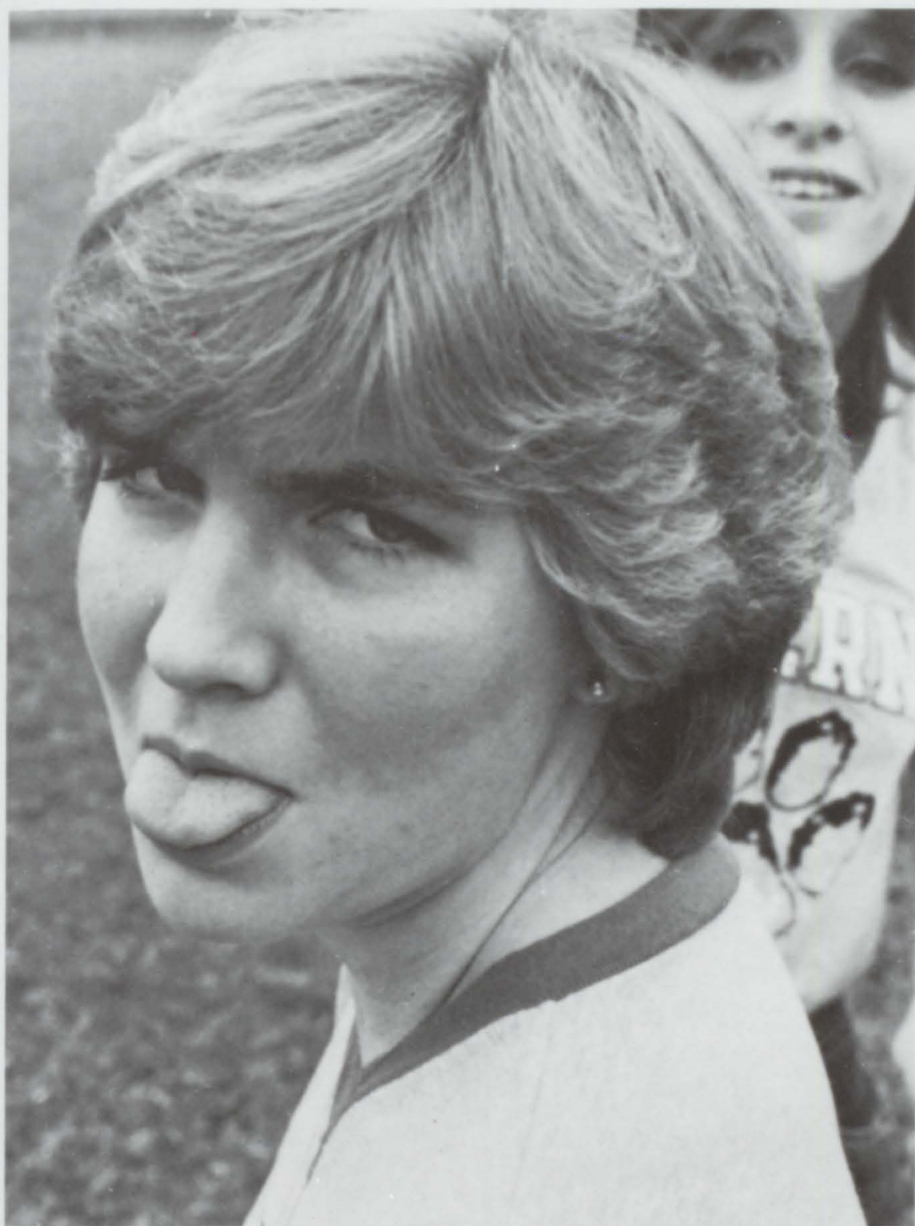

Top left—Yolanda Parks and Ruth Perkins show smiles of enthusiasm as the school year comes to a closing.

Above—These senior boys seem more than ready to take their last walk from the halls of good old L.H.S.

Top right—Scotty Wallace and Robby Morrow are living proof of what they think the perfect man looks like.

Top right—Marlene Stephens and Lynn Patterson are more than eager to make a toast . . . but to what?

Dawn King plainly expresses her feelings.

IT'S MONEY TIME

Graduation was not only a time for amusement but also a time for expenses. From the beginning to the end of school the seniors were always knee deep in obligations. It could have been as low as two dollars for the flower fund or high as a hundred dollars for portraits. Somehow there were always more debts to be paid. And as we were all told, all these obligations would be paid before one received his diploma.

Dianne White holds up what wee bit of money she has after buying graduation supplies.

Wanda Bolding and DaJuna Harris inspect their graduation supplies while Gary Garner tries to decide if it's worth the money.

After obtaining graduation supplies, the new fad became exchanging name cards.

Ruth Perkins poses for her cap and gown portrait while others wait impatiently for their time.

Although the giving out of graduation supplies was hectic, there was still time to relax and reminisce with friends.

Janet Nichols and Jennifer have conflicting ideas of graduation.

CLASS DAY

Class Day was said to be one of the best ever. The program was fantastic, but this alone did not make Class Day the best. The closeness shown among classmates during this special time helped to make the seniors' Class Day one to remember. The seniors chose to re-enact their sixth grade graduation for their skit. By doing so, the Class of '83 drew closer together as they reminisced; however we could not live in the past. We had to face reality and had to decide "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Prophet Rita McLeod took the seniors through a time door to a view of themselves in ten years.

Class Vocalists Jerry Foster, Sandra Johnson, Joe Wood, Dawn King, and Robby Morrow sang the "Theme from Ice Castles."

Emcees Randy Claybrook and Pam Walton tied Class Day events together with their original, cute remarks.

Class Historian Ruth Perkins, along with Lynn Patterson, took the seniors for a "Sentimental Journey"

Giftorian, DaJuna Harris, presented the seniors with their farewell gift. Assisting DaJuna with the gifts was Roderick Clayton.

Class Dancers, Yolanda Parks and Walter Wingard, danced to "Sticky Situation"

Sixth grade Muskrats, Lynn Patterson and Jimmy Crowe, performed their last Musk-rat dance together at Class Day.

We certainly have grown since the sixth grade.

Janet Nichols' poem "Just Another Moment" expressed the seniors' gratitude to parents and teachers.

Marlene Stephens poem "Reflections" expressed the true sentiments of the senior class.

Class Comedians, Gary Garner and Carl Massey, are thrilled with each other's "Baby Face".

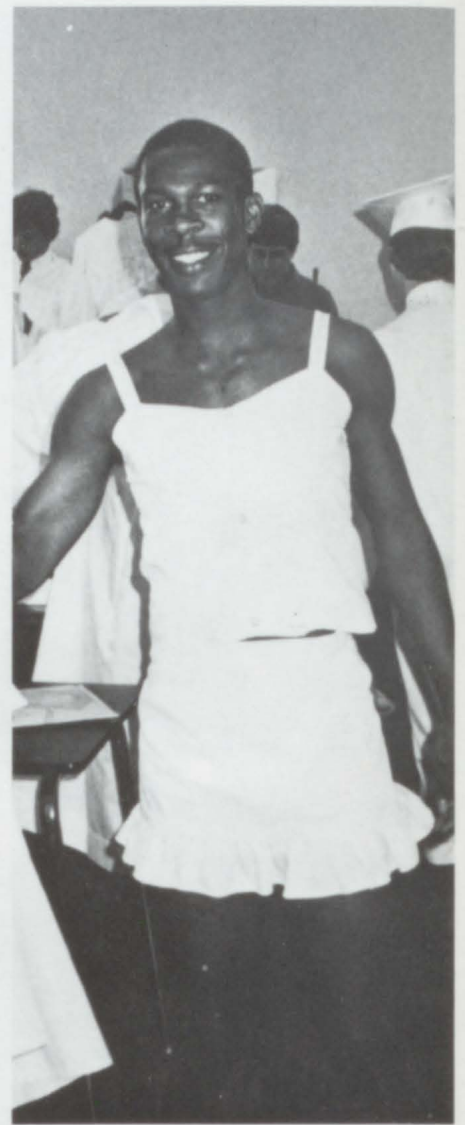

UNITED WE STAND

The Seniors of 1983 have been through many trying times. We had our cliques, as any other class did, but when it came time for decisions to be made as a class, the cliques were put aside. We wanted our class to be the best ever, and we realized that we would have to work together for this mission to be accomplished. We believe our mission was accomplished and can proudly say that our class worked together as a whole and not as individuals.

Sharron Sankey's and Pam Walton's nerves seem to be on edge as they fix their graduation gowns.

Carl Massey prepares to slip into something a bit more formal before Class Day.

Long-time friends Marlene Stephens and Randy Claybrook do not seem upset about leaving one another.

Friendship involves helping one another as exhibited by these graduating seniors.

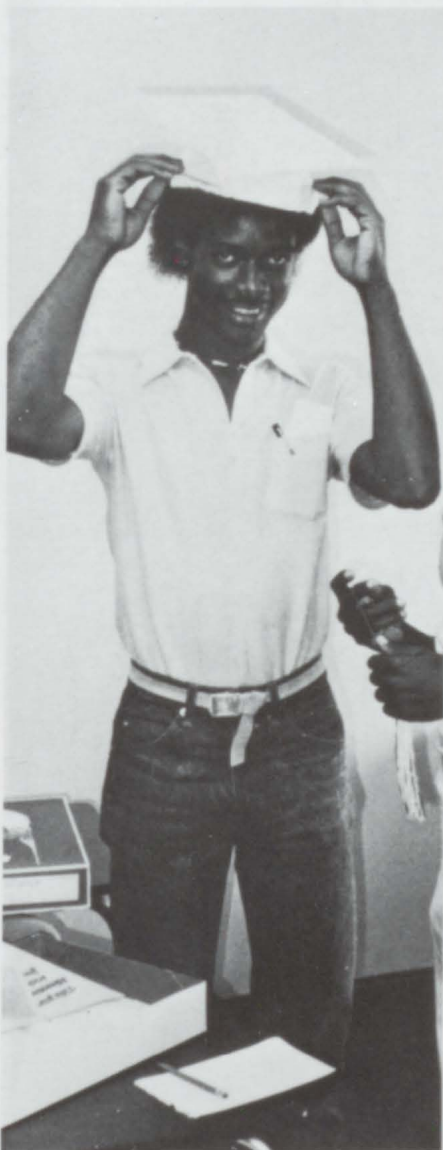

FINAL FEAST

To carry on the school tradition, the senior luncheon was held after Class Day activities. As usual everyone pigged out and made a big deal over drinking tea instead of milk. Many seniors will miss school, but no one will miss eating "Miss" Ivey's cooking.

Sandra Johnson is unsure about wanting Ms. Ivey's chicken fingers.

Fashion conscious Cephus Jones models the latest in graduation attire.

Tonya Cauthen is overwhelmed with joy about receiving her last tray from Ms. Ivey.

The Senior luncheon is a time for togetherness, but more important it is a time for feasting.

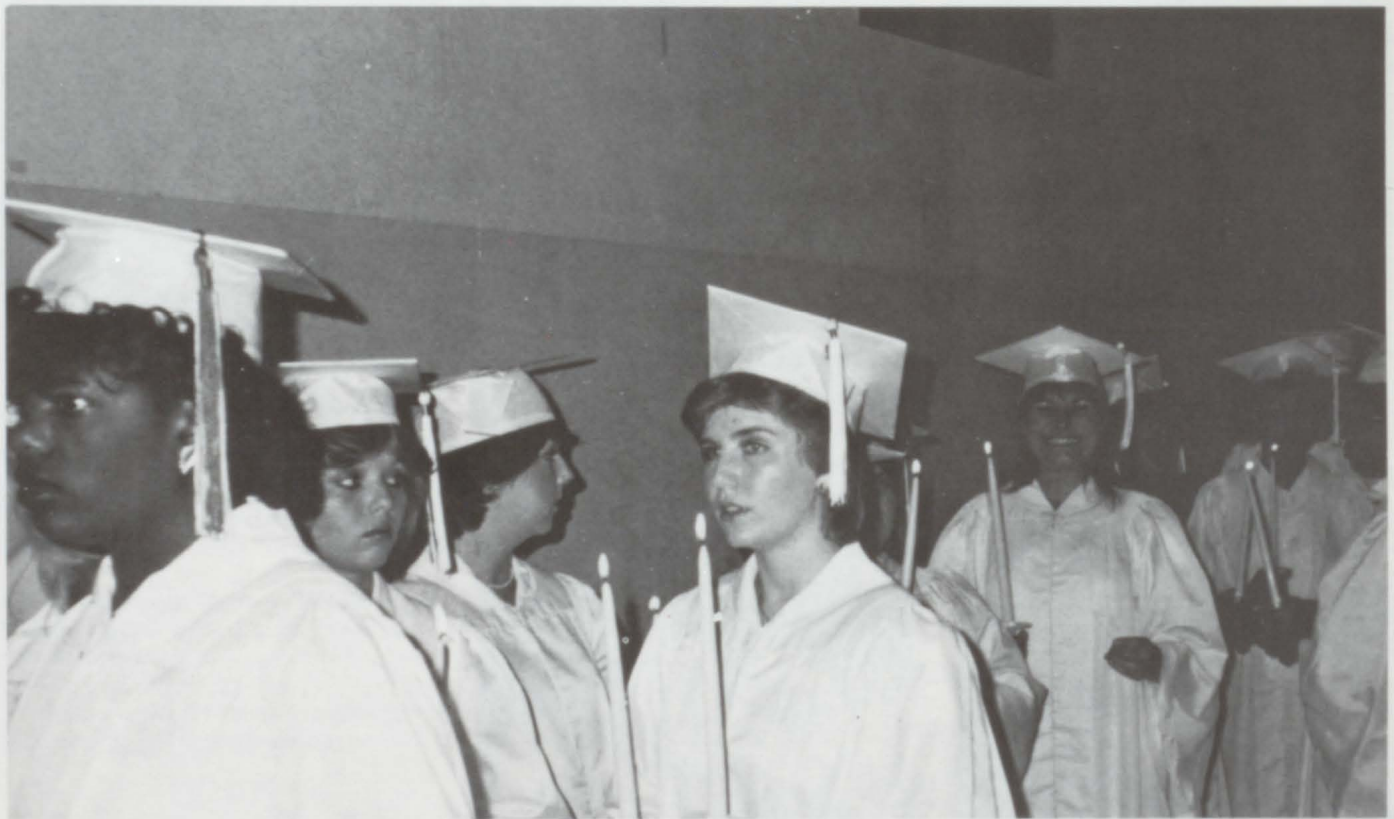

GRADUATION BRINGS MIXED FEELINGS

Feelings always run rampant during graduation activities, and this year was no exception. The excitement of finally getting out was intermingled with the sadness of leaving familiar places and friends and uncertainty of facing the real world as young adults making decisions on our own.

Standing together for the last time as a group, the Seniors too have mixed emotions.

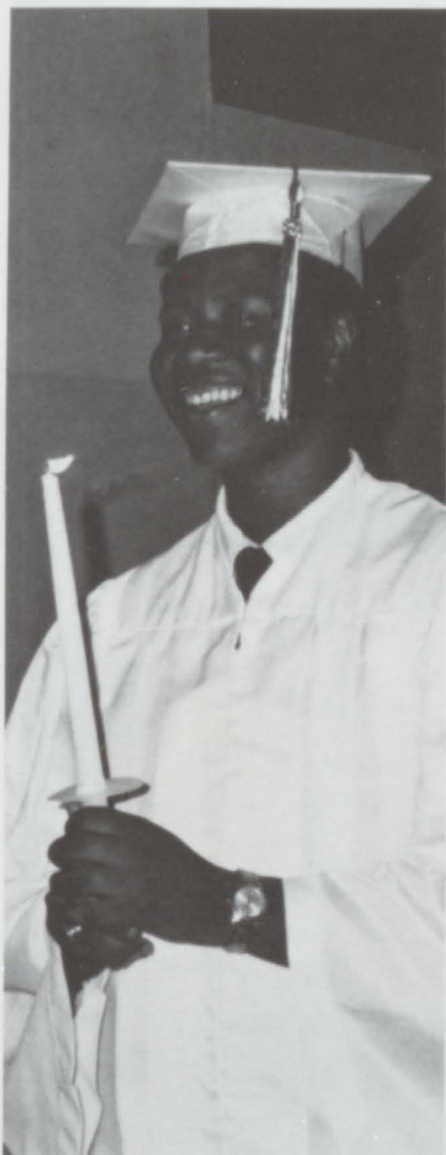

Janet Nichols seems ready for graduation, while the others are a bit unsure.

For the first time, candles were used in both Graduation and Baccalareate, which helped to set the mood for the occasions.

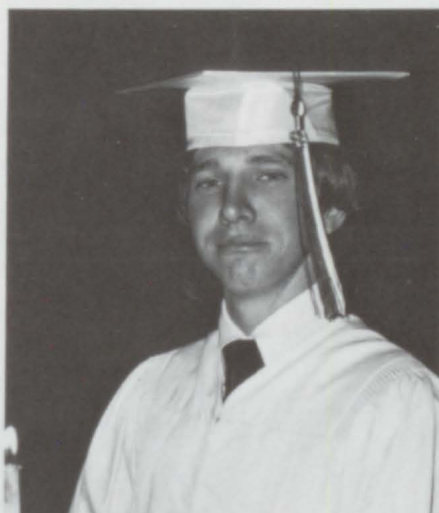

Mike Davis gave the invocation which was the song version of the Lord's Prayer.

The FFA Quartet, which included three Seniors sang "I'll Have a New Body."

Jerry Foster sees no need for tears. He feels that graduation should be a joyful time.

Joe Wood has been in school for so long it is going to be hard to depart.

JUST ANOTHER MOMENT

Tonight we have each taken a step toward the future, We race to great our tomorrow while unsuringly trying to forget our past.

We search deep inside ourselves for all the lost and forgotten memories. Just looking at our old pictures helps us to relive.

Remembering all our silly little escapades of Elementary School, A yesterday's glance at our first puppy love. And the first and never fading pains of falling in love.

Finally reaching an age where decisions were placed in our own hands, In a time when we weren't quite as grown up as we thought we might have been.

Everyone of us, All going separate ways in search of ourselves and our abilities, We learned to play kids games but now its time to play the adult game.

Tonight is only one great moment in our lives, It's a moment that we'll never be able to relive, A moment that can't be traded for anything less.

And what we're feeling now is something that can't be taken away because this is our great moment in time. It's a moment that you, Our parent's and teachers helped us to achieve.

Just saying thanks for writing the book and for helping us turn the pages.

Janet Leigh Nichols

REFLECTIONS

The time is nigh
For us seniors to depart
But each will leave behind
A piece of his heart.

But because the years to come
Have plenty in store
We must grasp our future
Which is now knocking at the door.

These years at Luverne High
Have surely been the best
We know that they'll outshine
All of the rest.

There will always be memories
Locked in the back of our minds
Of the times we've shared here
And the friends we'll leave behind.

Though the roads of life
May be long and winding
These years we've shared
Will on our mind be ever binding.

They'll add a little happiness
And a little bit of cheer
And constantly remind us
Of the times we each hold so dear.

When we reflect back
To the happenings of our past
We find numerous memories
That will forever last.

We'll always remember
The naps the teachers made us take
And now that we're older
They can hardly keep us awake.

We'll never forget names
Such as "Roy Boy" and "Trooper Trube"
"Dalar Balar" and "Dougie"
And other names that were rude.

We'll always recall
Coach Sport's many capers
Such as the educated peanut
And the selling of Christmas papers.

Yes, there are so many memories
That we hold deep down in our souls
And I'm sure they'll help us
As we strive to reach our goals.

And when we venture out
To the awaiting walks of life
I'm sure we'll meet trouble
Heartache, pain, and strife.

But no matter how rough
The forthcoming times may get
We'll have an inner consciousness
That'll not give up, at least not yet."

We'll have this self-confidence
For a few reasons
For the leadership and guidance
We've been taught all these seasons.

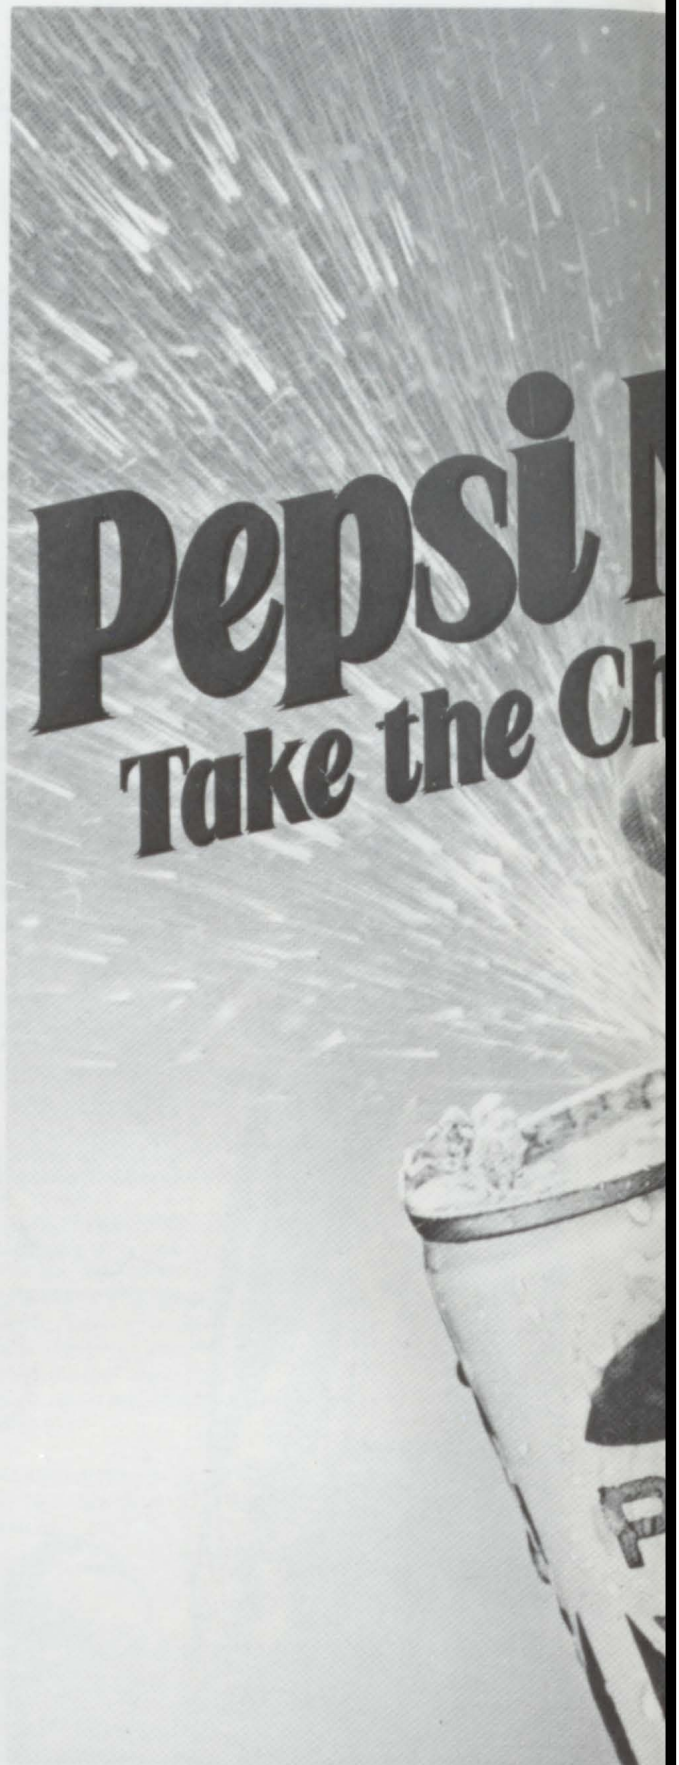

For in all these years
Each of us has been taught
In life there are many dreams
They just have to be sought.

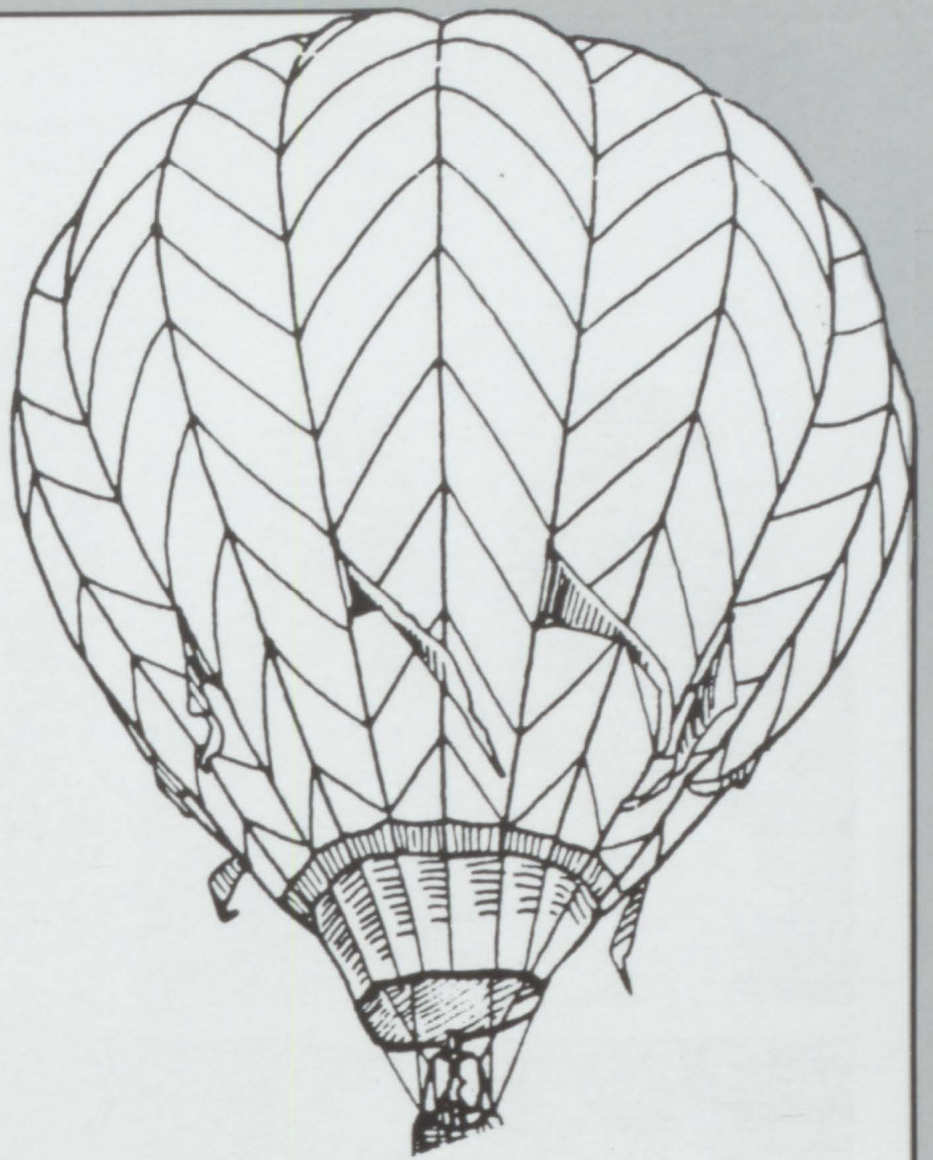

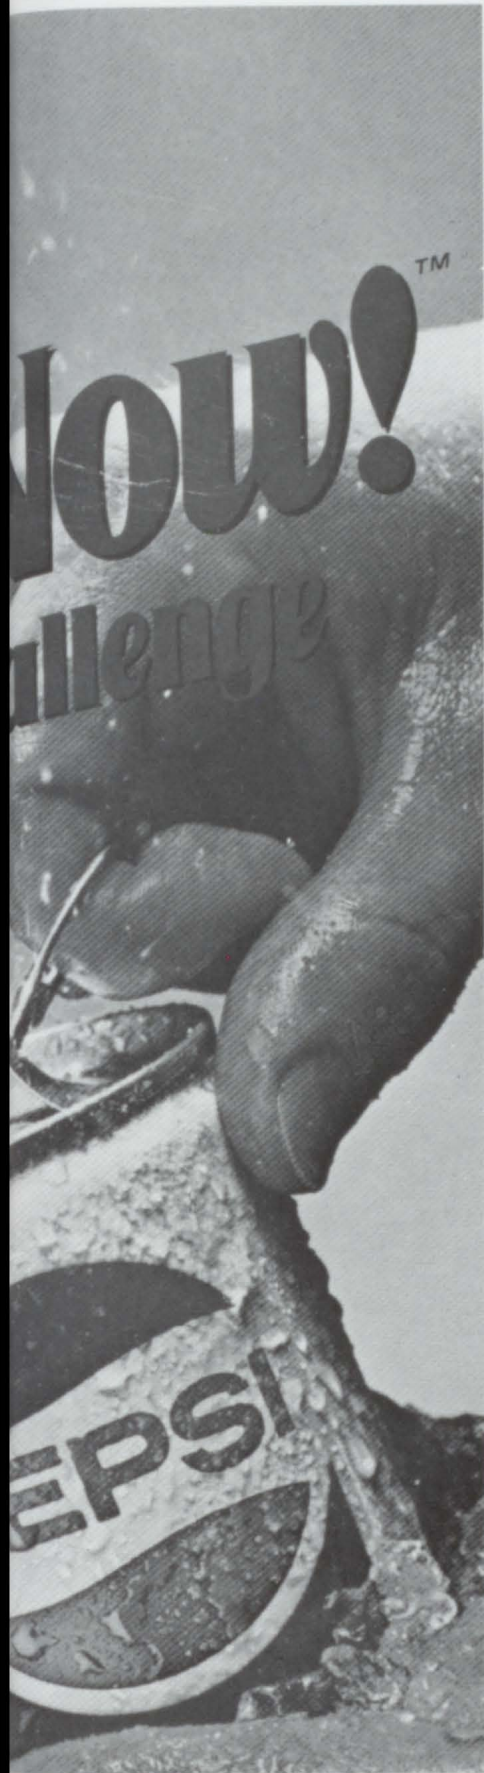

So when we leave the halls
Of good ol' L.H.S.
There is one thing each of us wish for
And that is our success!

Also as we depart
From here, our second home
We'll always treasure it
No matter where we roam.

It holds so many moments
Of times that have gone by
Therefore, we each feel remorse
As we say a final good-bye.

Well it's over, the 1983 PAN-ORAMA is finished and now in your hands. I wish that each of you knew how much hard work went into this publication. We started planning the pages in late June when Lynn, Dale, "Miss" Sue and I went to clinic for three days. We learned a lot and have put much of what we know into this book. For the most part the staff has been good and really helpful in getting my ideas onto the printed page. I'd especially like to thank Lynn for her words of wisdom; if it had not been for her dedication, this year-book would be little more than pictures. Angel made things much easier for me when I knew she was taking care of layouts and the little nitty gritty things. I really did appreciate Marlene for providing copy, captions, and a lot of laughs. Joey was the all-around guy; his help with classes and the football copy was great. Peanut did the important things like alphabetizing, licking stick'ems and those other odd jobs that aren't really exciting. Thanks to Big Deb for the impressive job on the ads and to Tonya for her professional typing. Dawn and Rita came after work when they were already tired. Dale's pictures are good. I hope she will keep up the good work as her position is very important. "Miss" Sue deserves many thanks for being a friend and advisor. So many times I felt like a little puppy being petted on the back when returning from a photo session or after completing a layout. It was nice to have her opinion, but almost never any bossiness. I really feel that this has been a student publication. Also, thanks to my family who wondered just what I was doing at school so many days and nights till nine or ten o'clock. I hope that you like the book.

Sincerely yours,
Randy S. Claybrook,
